A strong, healthy woman instead of a tired and ailing one! Sounds like a miracle, doesn't it? But it isn't. It's only the ordinary, every-day work of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—just the work that it was made for.

It's a woman's medicine, carefully compounded for her by an experienced physician, and adapted to her delicate organization. It makes weak women strong, suffering women well. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and bracing nervine, and a certain cure for all the functional derangements, painful disorders or chronic weaknesses peculiar to the sex. For ulceration, displacements, bearing-down sensations, "female complaints" of every kind, it's a never-failing remedy.

And, among all the medicines that claim to help women, "Favorite Prescription" is the only one that's guaranteed to do what is promised for it. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in any case, you have your money back.

Is something else, that may pay the dealer better, likely to be "just as good" for you?

HAS COME AT LAST

Startling News Wired from the South.

The Morgansea Levee Has Broken.

Thousands of Acres Will be Inundated,

And Millions of Damage Will be Caused.

The Key to the Whole Louisiana Levee System Has Given Way and Great Alarm is Felt in the South.

New Orleans, May 10.—The news of the breaking of the Morgansea levee which reached here last night, caused considerable excitement.

This is the most important levee of the Mississippi river and in fact is the largest in the world.

It is the key levee to the whole state. It is situated near Pointe Coupe, in the very center of Louisiana.

Its break is an awful calamity, for its situation is such that it is utterly impossible to close any breach.

The river is tremendously high and for the past week grave fears have been experienced in all directions.

Constant watch, night and day, has been kept on the weakest levees. The Morgansea was the strongest of them all. The river sweeps against it round a bend with terrific force.

With the break the tremendous volume of water, which it is impossible to stem, will pour into the country from the river to the gulf.

The damage will be enormous and in the neighborhood of eight or nine million dollars.

The Teche country, the best sugar lands in the south, will be utterly destroyed.

Thirteen parishes will suffer and there can be no crops this year.

Great fears are entertained for the towns and villages in the line of the flood.

Heavy Rains.

Paris, Tex., May 10.—The rains in the past few days have been almost unprecedented in this section. Red river is now beginning to leave its bank, with a big rise reported to be following from above. There will be a great overflow and much damage to property.

All Under Water.

Dennison, Tex., May 10.—This section of the state is fairly inundated, owing to the rainfall of the past 56 hours. Rivers and small water courses are on the rampage. Red river has nearly reached its high water mark and fears are entertained for the wagon bridge which has recently been completed at a cost of $50,000. Thousands of acres are submerged, which will necessitate the replanting of corn and cotton crops.

The Raging Mississippi.

Louisiana, Mo., May 10.—The raging Mississippi has reached the danger point at this city and after a lapse of several years again threatens inundation to the large and fertile Sny bottom of Pike county, Illinois, opposite this city. The Sny levee, which alone prevents the mighty father of waters from destroying thousands of acres of growing wheat and driving hundreds of farmers from their homes, is now in serious danger from the continued rise in the river.

The strong east wind of the past two days has driven the waves and drift to the Missouri side and has materially assisted in preventing a break in the levee, but should the rise continue another 24 hours and the wind shift to the west dire disaster will be the result.

Already the people in the bottom are becoming alarmed and are crossing to this side of the river with their household goods. Word was sent to this city for men to assist in riprapping the levee at a point below the Chicago & Alton railroad bridge.

The lowlands around this city are submerged and the Crawford Lumber company is experiencing serious inconvenience therefrom. This company's planing mill furnishes power to the incandescent electric light company and the overflow threatens invasion to the power house and the shutting off of the lights.

The Burlington road has a force of men at work riprapping its embankment just below this city.

At Hannibal.

Hannibal, Mo., May 10.—The Mississippi river is raging, and is out of its banks above and below here, and serious trouble is expected. Hundreds of acres of the finest farming lands are inundated, and the damage can hardly be estimated. The river is rising rapidly. All the houses in the bottoms are under water, and the occupants have taken refuge on the bluffs. The trains on the K. road make only four miles an hour, as the track is under water for miles. If the high waters continue and the Sny levee breaks, a repetition of the scenes at Johnstown will be witnessed. At present the outlook is a very dangerous one, and serious trouble is expected.

Tracks Under Water.

Chillicothe, Mo., May 10.—The raging waters of Grand river continue increasing in volume. The track of the Wabash railroad, a few miles east of this city, is inundated and all trains have been abandoned. The water is still rising slowly, and should it go a foot higher it will cut off the water supply of the city.

A Cyclone Added.

Memphis, Tenn., May 10—Reports from parts of Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi are to the effect that the rain has been general and incessant for 24 hours and that much anxiety is felt by planters.

At Mari, Marianna, Ark., the most severe rain and hail storm for years fell yesterday. Below the town a cyclone passed through from the southwest, cutting a swath of about 400 yards and uprooting huge trees.

The greatest damage occurred at the plantation of C. C. Gist. The barn was blown entirely away, not a trace remaining.

The outhouses and the rear of the residence, foundation and all, was blown away. Large trees were blown half a mile away. At Paragould the city's electric light plant was struck by lightning and the electrician killed.

At Helena ,Forest City, Glendale, Coahoma and many other places heavy rains and hailstorms are reported.

New Orleans, May 10.—The breaking of the great Morgansea levee in Pointe Coupe parish is the greatest misfortune which could have befallen the planters of the state. It will let the water down into Pointe Coupe, Iberville, West Baton Rouge, Assumption, Ascension, La Fourche, Iberia, St. Martin's and St. Mary's parishes, and may flood all the country between it and the gulf. The crevasse will stop the Southern Pacific and Texas Pacific roads.

The situation is regarded as most serious. The great volume of water from the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers has not yet reached here. When it strikes the other levees which are already weakened by the pressure against them the result cannot fail to be widespread desolation and the ruin of many.

In Carroll, Madison and other upper parishes the water is now even with the tops of the levees.

In Mississippi thousands of acres are already under water and the inhabitants, having abandoned their homes, have taken refuge in Vicksburg, Natchez and other cities. Rain continues to fall which increases the danger of the situation.

THEY STAND BY BLAINE

Montana Republicans Adopt Resolutions

And Benjamin Harrison Becomes Uneasy.

The Man from Maine is the Only Republican in the Eyes of This Northern State Who Should be Nominated.

Helena, Mont., May 10.—The republican state convention to select delegates to the national convention was held in Missoula yesterday. The resolutions indorse the McKinley bill, denounce the democratic majority for passing the free wool bill, condemn all efforts to remove the tariff from Mexican lead ore, favor liberal pensions, demand that the contract between the government and the Northern Pacific railroad be carried out to the letter of the law, demand measures to secure Mantana's rights to mineral lands and indorse the administration of President Harrison.

The resolution showing the presidential preference of the convention is as follows:

"Resolved, That in common with the great mass of the republicans of the union we would delight to see the standard of the party placed in the hands of him whose name is a household word in every American home and a cherished treasure in every American heart, the foremost statesman of the time, the incarnation of progressive and patriotic republicanism, the object of the people' fondest desire—James G. Blaine."

A motion to instruct the delegates to vote for no one but a free coinage candidate for president was voted down almost unanimously.

POSTAL MATTERS.

Washington, May 10.—J. F. Kerr has been appointed postmaster at South Warsaw, Allen county, O., vice E. Wonnell, resigned. A new postoffice has been established at Cold Springs, Clark county, William H. Kennedy, postmaster.

PASSED BOTH HOUSES.

Washington, May 10.—The bill to give American registry to the big steamers City of Paris and City of New York has passed both houses of congress and now awaits the signature of the president.

ALONG THE GREAT LAKES

Vessel Men all Pleased With the Harbor Bill

Which Has Passed the Lower House.

The Canal Street Bridge in Chicago to Become a National Issue—General Marine Information.

Chicago, May 10.—(Special Marine Service)—The heavy losses the marine interest has suffered during the freshet, largely on account of the coffer-dam at Vanburen street and at Canal street bridge have caused considerable feeling on the river.

It is quite useless to do anything about the coffer-dam, but the members of the Line Agents' association think it about time to take another fall out of their old-time enemy—Canal street bridge.

The association met yesterday at the board of trade and fully discussed the subject. It was six months ago that the United States district attorney promised a committee from the association that he would at once institute proceedings against the city of Chicago for the removal of the bridge. He has failed to do anything of the kind, and some members were in favor of appealing directly to the attorney general for an order on the district attorney to begin the suit. In the end a committee was appointed to call upon the district attorney first and learn the reasons for the delay.

Against the Syndicate.

An extended communication to Senator Cullom, in behalf of the Durburow bill taking from the secretary of war the authority of leasing the government piers for business purposes, was adopted. Senator Cullom was assured that the harbor entrance of Chicago was none too wide as it is, and that water commerce would suffer great injury if large vessels were permitted to lie at the government piers discharging or taking on cargoes. The association asked for his support of the bill in the committee on commerce of which he is a member.

The line agents then discussed the labor question with Contractor McRae, but it was given out that no definite conclusion had been reached.

General Rejoicing.

Leading citizens and business men, shippers and receivers on 'change, bankers and steamboat and vessel owners were interviewed yesterday in regard to the river and harbor appropriation bill generally and also the 20-foot channel through Detroit river and St. Clair flats. The officers of the various marine unions were also talked with—the seamen's union, the grain trimmers, coal and lumber unloaders, etc.

Not a dissenting voice was heard. All applauded the great speech of Congressman Vincent A. Taylor in favor of the bill and applauded the house for finally passing the measure, and expressed the hope that it would go through the senate without amendment.

The great growth of the lake marine was pointed out and congress was urged to foster this flourishing inland marine.

The fact was pointed out that 20 years ago vessels of 300 to 600 tons charged 20 cents for carrying a bushel of wheat to Buffalo, while at present steamers of 2,000 to 3,000 tons measurement are carrying at 1 1-2 and 2 cents a bushel; and it was shown that the dimensions of lake craft will only be limited by the depth of water given by the government.

The larger the vessel the cheaper the freight rate. In view of the World's fair good deep water in the various harbors on Lake Michigan was never more necessary than now.

It has been said that the owners of vessels now afloat ought in self defense to oppose the deep channel for the reason that the monster craft which will be coming out will be able to carry at rates so cheap that the smaller craft cannot compete with them at all. Owners talked with yesterday said that there was no danger. The great work of making a 20-foot channel would occupy years. Vessels would wear out and be lost and the new marine would grow up gradually with the opening of the channel.

General Mention.

Capt. William Walsh returned home yesterday from Milwaukee where he had been to look after the cargo of the schooner Snowdrop for the Ford River Lumber company. It will be saved. The bottom is out of the schooner and she is beyond repair.

The fine schooner Charles Luling is in port with a big cargo of lumber. She seems none the worse to outward appearances for her winter's rest on Parson Mushout's corn patch at Manistique, but will probably be docked for examination.

"B. Teed" is the name painted on the fine tug named after Bob Teed. Poor Tom would turn over in his grave to see his name thus abbreviated.

New masters sworn at the custom house yesterday: John Quin, tug Rebel; Patrick Hart, tug E. P. Ferry; George McClevy, tug Union; George Jewell, tug A. G. Van Schaick; James Barry, tug Blackball No. 2; Con Mahony, tug Protection; George McDonald, tug A. A. Carpenter.

Edward Nesitt has left Cleveland to take the position of vessel owners' shipping master at Escanaba.

The stage of water in Chicago river was down to about datum yesterday and there was not current enough to interfere with towing so long as the tugs were well-handled. Medium-sized vessels passed freely up and down through Van Buren street pass with one boat, but the large steamers took two. That there have been no accidents involving heavy losses the past four days speaks volumes for the management, skill, and care of the Chicago tug lines. There was a great demand for tugs and there was a great deal of kicking from vessel masters, but the lines were doing all in their power to get outbound craft to the lake and to transfer the delayed inbound fleet to the wharves of their consignees.

A monster lumber fleet will be seeking charters to-day, but the agents say there are cargoes for all and many more.

Lake Disasters.

Port Huron, May 10.—The steamer Shickluna, bound up, collided iwth the tug Swain, striking her on the starboard bow and breaking a large number of frames, stanchions and her railing. The steamer also suffered by broken planks and stanchions.

The steam barge Otego was damaged by fire to the amount of $500 last night. Temporary repairs were made here until she arrived at her destination.

Trouble at Duluth.

Duluth, May 10.—The Canadian schooner Glenora, which broke away, from the steamer Glengerry last Friday, is a pretty bad wreck. She lost all her sails, broke her jibboom and is in general bad shape.

The new whaleback steamer, Thomas Wilson, loads wheat for Buffalo this afternoon.

Ice still blocks harbor entrance, but boats are getting through it with much difficulty.

At Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 10.—Big business has been done in chartering boats for iron ore at $1 from Marquette and 75 from Escanaba since noon yesterday. Ashland shippers refuse to pay $1.25 and boats will not accept less.

Coal shippers who want boats for all upper lake ports refused to pay advanced rates.

Duluth Rates.

Duluth, May 10.—Very little tonnage is offered to load wheat this week at 3 1-2 to Buffalo. Offers for boats to arrive next week are not satisfactory to vessel owners.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

The Divided Church Under Consideration.

The North to Again Extend the Olive Branch.

The Report of the Constitutional Committee Called Up and Discussed—The Routine Work.

Omaha, May 10.—It is quite probable that before this conference adjourns the Methodist church will, in the words of the stump speaker, know no north and no south.

An effort to bring the church north and south together is being made and communications have already been opened with the officers of the church south by the committee on the state of the church to whom the following resolutions, offered by Dr. King, of New York, were read:

"Resolved, That the members of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church rejoice greatly at the fidelity and prosperity of the great Methodist Episcopal church south, whose membership has advanced from 400,000 to 1,200,000 in the last 26 years.

"That we sympathize heartily with the desire for reunion so eloquently expressed by our beloved Bishop Foster and we devoutly pray for its speedy consummation.

That the general conference is hereby requested to take such action as it may deem best to secure the organic union of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church south, and other Methodist churches."

This was referred without discussion, the feelings of the conference being well known. The north will again extend the olive branch of peace to the south and many have great hopes that this will yet be crowned with good results.

The special order of the day, the report of the constitutional committee, was called up at 10 o'clock; immediately there was confusion. Dr. Buckley asked the conference to allow Bishop Merrill to speak on the question (a matter prohibited by the rules). Dr. Neeley opposed it and thought the conference could not afford to lay down precedent and allow the bishops to speak and thus use their influence on the floor in the interest of legislation. Dr. Myley, of New York, thought that the bishop should be allowed to speak—if such a thing is to imperil the good of the church then do away with the rule.

Dr. Kynet, of the Iowa conference, also favored the motion. Dr. Buckley again secured the floor and made an extended speech.

JAILED UPON A SERIOUS CHARGE

Van Wert, O., May 10.—Jacob R. Miller, until recently a prominent hardware merchant of Ohio City, now languishes in jail in this city. About two weeks ago he was arrested on the charge of forgery. He immediately gave bond for his appearance in court. He has been rearrested and another and more serious charge is to be preferred against him.

JOE MANLEY AGAIN.

He Says Mr. Blaine Will Not Run,

And Intimates That He is Trying Harder to Live Just Now Than to be President.

New York, May 10.—A special to the Press from Washington says that Postmaster Manley, of Augusta, Me., one of Secretary Blaine's most faithful followers, said in an interview last night that there is nothing in the talk about Mr. Blaine and the presidency and that the latter has only a desire to live in quiet.

He said that the anti-Harrison men were all at sea, and were not able to unite on any one to beat the president for renomination.

OHIO CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE.

Canton, O., May 10.—The Ohio Christian alliance will hold a four-days' session in this city. The following speakers will be present: Rev. Mr. Simpson, New York; Rev. D. M. Mayland, secretary and evangelist, Cleveland; Rev. Mrs. Roland; Rev. Messenger, Mrs. Jubbs, New York; Rev. W. Malone, Mr. Thompson, Mrs. Myland, and Miss Betts, Cleveland.

PACKERS CONSOLIDATE.

Chicago, May 10.—The small packers, known as the Associated packers in the Union stock yards litigation, have combined under the name of the International Packing & Provision company, with Henry Botsford as president. The capital of the new company will consist of $2,500,000 6 per cent. first mortgage gold bonds, redeemable in 20 years at 110, in addition thereto, £400,000 8 per cent. cumulative preference shares and £450,000 ordinary shares, equivalent to about $6,500,000 in all.

PENSION BILL.

Washington, May 10.—Senator Sherman has introduced a bill to remove the charge of desertion from the military record of James Harrington, late a private of company H, One Hundred and First Ohio infantry, now living in Richland county. Also a bill to increase from $25 to $50 a month the pension of Henry A. Wiseman, late of company B, Sixty-ninth Ohio infantry.

WE'LL TALK WITH YOU

Say the Members of Westminster Church

To the First Presbyterian Folks on the Removal Question—Three New Trustees Elected.

The congregation of the Westminster church met at the church last evening to take another step in the matter of the removal of one of the two churches to the Seventh ward.

Mr. Charles Pratt presided, and after the meeting had been called to order a general discussion of the situation ensued. It was decided to elect a committee of six to confer with a similar committee from the First church and endeavor to come to some conclusion as to which church would move. The following committee was elected: Dr. W. C. Chapman, T. J. Brown, David Robinson, jr., J. C. Bonner, A. L. Smith, Charles Pratt.

A joint meeting of the two committees has been called for this evening, at the First church. The following is the committee from the First Presbyterian: F. O. Paddock, J. H. Ainsworth, Thomas Van Stone, J. R. Calder, E. Frederick, W. L. Rowland.

Before adjourning three vacancies in the board of trustees of the Westminster church were filled as follows: George E. Pomeroy, vice James Blass; George A. Chase, vice Frank Janes; M. L. Ransom, vice Milton Taylor.

KNOCKED DOWN IN THE STREET.

Youngstown, O., May 10.—Miss Alice McGinniss, aged 17, while walking along a public street of the city was approached from the rear by an assailant who knocked her down and then disappeared. Miss McGinniss was unable to describe him, but the police have obtained a clue that the assault was the result of a love affair in which the girl was the central figure.

A FATAL INJECTION.

Columbus, O., May 10.—Coroner Foley returned a verdict in the recent death of Eddie Egan, a patient at the Chicago Opium and Liquor Cure sanitarium. An overdose of hyopyanine and not delirium tremens, as reported, produced death. The drug was injected into the arm to quiet the patient. The prosecuting attorney will take the case.

MINING COMPANY CHARTERS.

Denver, May 10.—During the past week more mining companies were granted charters than for the last 10 years. Articles of incorporation were filed and charters given to 27 companies with an average capital stock each of $1,000,000.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

A Toledo Man Drowned While at Work.

He Fell from a Bridge in Zanesville' Seventy-five Feet Into the River and Was Drowned.

Information was received in this city this afternoon to the effect that John T. Gault, an employe of the Smith Bridge company, was killed at Zanesville this morning.

It is reported that he was working on a span of a bridge over the Muskingum river, and that losing his foothold, fell into the river. All efforts were made to save him, but failed, and the man was drowned.

THE QUIGLEY CASE.

Supreme Court Hands Down a Desision

Affirming the Judgment of the Lower Courts, and the Compulsory Education Law is Declared Constitutional.

A dispatch was received this morning by Prosecuting Attorney Barber from Attorney-General Richards, stating that the supreme court had handed down a decision in the Quigley appeal case from Toledo.

The judgment of the lower courts was affirmed, and the compulsory education law declared to be constitutional.

The facts about the case will be readily brought to mind. Rev. Dr. Quigley refused to fill out the blanks left by the school authorities relative to the parochial school connected with St. Frances de Sales church. The controversy was carried into the probate and common pleas courts, and also to the circuit court, where decisions adverse to Dr. Quigley's position were rendered. A week since the case was argued orally before the supreme court by Hon. Frank Hurd for Dr. Quigley and by Attorney-General Richards and Prosecutor Barber for Toledo and the state. To-day being the regular time for announcement of decisions, the final ultimatum was reached as above indicated.

Rev. Dr. Quigley, by the decision, will now have to pay a fine of $50 and all costs in the case, which will reach into the thousands of dollars.

NEW ELECTRIC STATION

To be Erected on the River Front

For the Toledo Electric Company—Considering as to the Choice of One of Three Options.

Mr. J. Moore, representing the Thompson-Houston company, is in the city, and with Mr. J. S. Rodgers and other directors of the Toledo Electric Light company is figuring on a site for a new electric station.

It is probable that the site recently secured on the line of the W. & L. E. railroad will be abandoned and another more suitable secured on the river front.

The company is at present considering three options, and one or the other will probably be selected.

TO BRING POPE BACK

He Is in Detroit, Desperate and Destitute.

He Meets and Talks With Toledo Citizens.

His Friends Say He Is Insane and Considerable Sympathy is Expressed for the Unfortunate Man.

Desperate and almost destitute, E. A. Pope roams the streets of Detroit.

Frank Trowbridge, Art Luce, Captain Cunningham and other Toledoans met and spoke with Pope during the past week or two.

Mr. Trowbridge, who spent an evening with the runaway in Detroit last week, says that financially and mentally Pope is almost a wreck.

He has no money, no friends, and has been unable to secure any work.

Art Luce also met him and conversed with him the other day for over an hour. Pope talked desperately. His watch is gone, and although it was a bitter cold day he had no overcoat. All he had was a ferry ticket. Mr. Luce tried to cheer him, but the unfortunate man kept talking of death and kindred topics.

Captain Cunningham of this city, also met Pope. He talks as if he was insane, and his friends here believe him to be crazy.

He says he met and spoke to Mr. A. W. Colton in Buffalo, so that Mr. Colton was not mistaken after all.

It is understood that steps have been taken here to have him declared insane, and if this is done he will be brought back to Toledo and will possibly become a guest of the insane asylum.

A local beneficiary organization of which he was a member has taken hold of the matter, and a committee has been appointed and will go to Detroit to-day with a view of investigating the matter.

Notice was posted in the Produce exchange this morning that on the 19th Pope's membership and stock in the Middle Bass club will be put at public auction at the door of the exchange.

The unfortunate and desperate man has the sympathy of many in this city who knew him when he lived here. On 'change and throughout the Produce exchange today the matter was the topic of conversation.

The result is that his immediate wants will be relieved, and he may eventually return to Toledo if the difficulty with the insurance companies can be settled.

BRIEF BUSINESS SESSION

Of the City Gas Trustees Last Evening.

All Quiet Along the Line—The Pavers are Relieved from Duty—Objections to Bills for Buggy Hire—Receipts.

All of the gas trustees except Dr. Jones were present at the brief session of the board held last evening.

Mr. Romeis, from the committee on claims, recommended the payment of well rentals amounting to $877.87, and the same was ordered paid, although Mr. Backus protested against paying rentals in the Perry township field.

In a schedule of other claims, buggy bills, amounting to $38, were objected to by Mr. Romeis. The superintendent explained that a buggy was often found necessary in looking after the 90 miles of pipe in this city. The superintendent's time was too valuable to have him wait for street cars. The bills were approved.

In reply to a query City Solicitor Read wrote the board that contractors are not obliged to keep pavements in good repair after the contract was accepted. The duty, he says, devolves on the street commissioner, who is responsible for the condition of the streets.

Mr. Backus moved that all pavers and others hired to repair the streets be discharged.

Manager Heston replied that such a step had already been taken.

The security bond of Cashier Manton was discussed and the matter was finally referred to the manager.

The application of M. J. Goulden for a position was placed on file.

A. E. Macomber desires 2,500 feet of 2-inch pipe, and he will pay for the same in receipts for advanced payments which have not been cancelled. Referred to city solicitor.

Receipts since last meeting were reported as $2,020.

THE BRYAN MURDER.

Circumstances Point to the Burchel Brothers

Who Seem to Have Terrorized Many Important Witnesses Into Silence—Evidence Against Them Accumulating.

Deputy Revenue Collector Coy returned this morning from Bryan, and he tells some interesting facts relative to the Brown murder.

Circumstances, he says, point strongly to the guilt of the Burchel brothers, who are in jail charged with the crime.

They seem to have been terrors, and now that they are under lock and key the tongues of many heretofore silent through fear have been unloosed and many singular facts are being developed.

A lad living in Bryan makes the statement that he saw the Burchels attack and beat the Edgerton miller, who was found half dead near the scene of the present murder.

Circumstances also point to them as the murderers of Pat Murphy, the rag peddler, also found dead and robbed near the railroad station.

In the miller attack the lad referred to says he saw the Burchels at the scene of the outrage, and one of them had a coupling pin in his hand.

Mr. Swift, a saloonkeeper, states that he saw the miller in company with the Burchels a short time before the man was found unconscious.

In the recent murder where Artemus Brown was found with his skull crushed in, the Burchels were seen with the murdered man on the day of the murder. Large splashes of blood have been found on both the Burchels' clothes. They claim the blood was caused by a fight they had some weeks ago with officers at Stryker.

Blood-stained clothing supposed to belong to the murderers have been found in a barn under some hay, and blood was found on the drawers near the ankle of one of the Burchels in an examination held yesterday.

A young woman who now speaks for the first time says she saw two men drag the body of a man to the point where Brown was found murdered.

THIS IS PLAIN.

A Few Simple and Straightforward Words Regarding Drs. Copeland and Bell.

The Second Year of the Copeland System in Toledo—Permanency the Test of Skill—The Five Dollar Rate to all Patients and for all Diseases During the Spring and Summer.

Drs. Copeland and Bell, specialists of 706 Madison street, desire to call the attention of the citizens of Toledo and vicinity to the fact that they have during the past year firmly established themselves in the confidence of the people with whom they have been brought in contact, either in a professional or in a business way. They are proud of the fact that their practice in this community has been such as to firmly establish all claims which they have made to superiority in the treatment of such diseases as those that affect the head, throat and lungs, as well as other chronic diseases, which are too often by the family practitioner considered incurable. They are proud, also, of the fact that the best testimony and advertising they have come from patients who have been under their care and have been cured by their superior methods.

They desire now to call attention to the fact that the season of the year most favorable for the successful treatment of catarrh and kindred diseases is the season when the patient is less liable to take cold. That season is the late spring and the early summer. Nature then lends her aid to the work of the physician, assists the progress of the patient, withholds the influences which cause increased disease, and affords a fair opportunity for complete recovery. This is simple, sound, sincere and straightforward sense.

The time for you to take treatment for any catarrhal difficulty is now. Drs. Copeland and Bell, in order that all may take advantage of this favorable season for the treatment of diseases, have decided to maintain the rate of $5 per month for treatment and medicines to all patients who apply during the spring and summer months. When it is taken fairly into consideration that this sum covers consultation, treatment, medicine, advice and everything necessary for the term of one month, the offer can not fail to strike sensible people as being a remarkable one.

The test of merit to apply to all professions as well as any other business, is, in general terms, the question of success, and Drs. Copeland and Bell are, as we say, proud of the fact that during their permanent establishment in this city for the past year, they have achieved success. Dr. E. O. Bell, who is personally in charge of the office, is a gentleman of wide experience, fine education, thoroughly trained and competent in the class of special diseases which come under his care. He has abundantly demonstrated this in the past, and his continuation as a practitioner in Toledo is a fact upon which the citizens should congratulate themselves.

The advertising testimonials published in the newspapers are of such a character as can not fail to impress any sensible person. Evidence of this kind, verified and substantiated as it is by a patient's name, picture and residence, can not fail to afford subject for serious thought. These people are telling the truth. They could have no possible object to do otherwise; they are your friends and neighbors—not "straw" men or women—and their testimony must establish in any sensible mind that disease, if not promptly and properly treated at its inception, will soon develop into more serious trouble, as well as the fact that Drs. Copeland and Bell thoroughly understand the treatment and cure of the diseases which they make their specialties. The testimonials of Drs. Copeland and Bell are not from distant and obscure towns, they are from this city; they are from your friends and neighbors and easily verified and substantiated. They are not manufactured and credited to parties supposed to be living in obscure towns ranging from Maine to California; they are not printed to bolster up the selling of cheap cure-all nostrums or worthless patent medicines, nor are they thrown upon the public with a cheap deception to make it appear that they are the utterances of the paper in which they are quoted. On the contrary, they are from people living in this community; people in our midst who can be readily seen and conversed with, and who will verify by word of mouth what they say in the public print.

AFTER MANY YEARS OF PAIN AND SUFFERING.

A Toledo Lady Tells What Has Been Accomplished for Her by Drs. Copeland and Bell, After Other Physicians.

"When I was first influenced to call at the offices of Drs. Copeland and Bell, at 706 Madison street, I had been an invalid for nearly 12 years, and my condition was such that I was not expected to live by my friends and acquaintances."

This was the remark of Mrs. Kate Green, of 2926 Chase street, in a recent conversation.

"As I said," continued Mrs. Green, "it has been 12 years since I first became affected by a disease of the head, throat and stomach, which has made my life miserable until lately. During all of that time I had a bad cough and nothing I took, or any of the physicians to whom I applied could relieve me from it. My throat was dry, sore, and had a tickling sensation in it, that caused me this constant cough. As I say, nothing that I could take gave me any permanent relief, and I could only secure temporary comfort by repeated and large doses of opium. The cough was so severe and incessant that I could not sleep nights, and the loss of rest was a constant strain upon my general and nervous system.

Mrs. Kate Green, 2926 Chase Street.

"I had severe pains through the chest and side, especially if I caught a slight cold, which I was very liable to do from the general bad state of my health. The disease finally encroached upon my stomach and nearly destroyed my digestive organs. My appetite was very poor, and when I would eat anything the food would appear to lie on my stomach utterly undigested, and gave me a sense of oppression and sickness.

"My rest was much broken and I would have smothering spells with hot flashes over my body, followed by night sweats and chills. I gradually lost much flesh, and was, in fact and in appearance a confirmed invalid.

"I had read much of the cures performed by Drs. Copeland and Bell, as given in the daily papers from their patients, and I finally decided to call upon them and submit my case. I had taken treatment from others with no effect, and had nearly lost faith in the medical profession. However, after examination and consultation with these gentlemen, I became impressed with the knowledge that they showed of my case and, placing myself under their care, I realized at this time that they thoroughly understood my symptoms and the remedies to be applied to them. Since taking their treatment my cough has disappeared; the tickling sensations in my throat are nearly gone; the smothering spells at night, the hot and cold flashes over my body, and the night sweats are also cured. I have gained more flesh and strength under the treatment of Drs. Copeland and Bell, than under all of the other doctors to whom I have applied, and their number is considerable. In fact, I am on the high road to complete health, and have every confidence and faith in the science and skill of these gentlemen."

$5.00 PER MONTH.

All persons applying for treatment during the spring and summer months will be treated at the uniform rate of $5 a month, and receive all medicines free.

GAS AT THIRTY CENTS

With Five Cents Off for Payment Within Ten Days.

The Kind of an Ordinance Before the Councilmen.

Gas Bonds Authorized—Orders for Pavements, Sewers, Etc., in Great Number — General Business Transacted.

All members of the board of councilmen were present at the meeting last evening, and an immense amount of business was transacted.

Besides the large number of resolutions and a few ordinances on the regular schedule, nearly every member had new business to introduce, and the session was a long one.

The expected ordinance, fixing the price of natural gas, furnished by the Northwestern Natural Gas company, was introduced by President Coleman and referred to the gas committee.

The ordinance is as follows:

Section 1. Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Toledo, that the maximum price which may be charged for natural gas by the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company to its consumers in the city of Toledo for one year from June, 1892, shall be 30 cents per 1,000 feet meter measurement, with a discount of 5 cents per 1,000 feet for payment at the office of the company within the first 10 days of each month, making the net rate where payment is thus made, 25 cents per 1,000 feet.

Meters to be furnished by the company without rental, and when the consumer employs the company to set the same, the charge therefor shall be the actual cost of the company therefor.

This ordinance to be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Mr. Daly presented a resolution, which was adopted, revoking all existing licenses for making natural gas connections after June 1, 1892.

Mr. Gill created considerable merriment by introducing a resolution to abolish the office of mayor, and placing the appointment of a chief executive of the city in the hands of the board of police commissioners. The resolution was read, and with much mock solemnity President Coleman referred the same to the mayor. There is no question but that Mr. Emmick will veto it.

Mr. Gill also introduced resolutions to grade McCloud avenue from the Belt railway to Seaman street; directing the Belt railway to place a watchman at Starr avenue; directing the street commissioner to fill McCloud avenue at Duck creek; and granting to James Leroux permission to erect a sign over the sidewalk on Bridge street. These were all adopted.

Two sidewalk resolutions and a resolution to grade Nevada street from the Belt railway to the city line, also introduced by Mr. Gill, were referred to the proper committees.

Mr. Hake presented two sidewalk resolutions, and a resolution to turnpike Pratt street from the Belt railway to the city lie. These were referred to committees.

Mr. Miller presented a resolution which was adopted, directing the W. & L. E. railway to keep trains off of Summit avenue and Erie street.

Mr. Neuendorf presented a resolution to pave Bancroft street from Lagrange street to Elm steet, which was adopted.

Mr. Rutherford introduced a resolution, which was adopted, directing the street commissioner to place a temporary drain in Ravine alley.

Mr. Schmitt presented a resolution to grade and pave State street, 26 feet wide, from Canton avenue to Union. Mr. Schmitt wanted this adopted immediately, but after some discussion it was referred to the street committee.

A remonstrance against the grading of the alley between Woodruff avenue and State street was referred to the street committee.

Mr. Taylor presented a resolution to advertise for bids for an artesian well at the corner of Buckingham and Hawley streets. Some of the members were opposed to this, but it was finally adopted.

Mr. Walker presented a resolution to grade McDonald street from Germania street to Forrer. Referred.

A resolution for a sidewalk on Hawley street was also referred.

A petition to open the alley between Hicks and Dorr streets from Wheeler street to Groesbeck street was referred to the street committee.

On motion of Mr. Schmuhl the mayor was instructed to grant a free entertainment license for one week to George Klotz.

Mr. Schmuhl likewise presented resolutions, which were adopted, to slope the sidewalk beds on Tecumseh street near Lenk and to drain the alley between Tecumseh and Hamilton streets.

A resolution from Mr. Rutherford to drain the alley between Western avenue and Middle street, from Sumner to Bloomfield was adopted.

Ordinances from the plat committee were passed accepting plats of sub-division of lots 196 and 197, Ironville, and R. A. and V. H. Ketcham's sub-division of lots in Stickney's third addition.

A large number of resolutions for new sidewalks, approved by the committee, were adopted, but on motion of Mr. Lee a resolution to advertise for bids to build sidewalks was referred back to the committee.

From the park committee resolutions were adopted for the better care of park property and rejecting the offer of a triangle in the Ninth ward.

Natural Gas Bonds.

The ordinance, approved by the ways and means committee to issue $100,000 of natural gas bonds for the purpose of buying additional territory, wells and the like, passed one reading, when Mr. Doner moved that the ordinance be referred back to the committee and presented a resolution to appoint a committee of eight, to consist of five councilmen and three aldermen, for the purpose of investigating the reasons for issuing these bonds.

This was not very favorably received and elicited some discussion.

Mr. Lee thought that this was only a move for delay, and he favored the immediate passage of the bond ordinance.

Mr. Manchester—"I am surprised at this move. Here we have just received a resolution to raise the price of Northwestern gas, and if the city plant is to be kept in condition to compete with them this money should be placed in the hands of the trustees. The money is needed to save the funds already invested. If the gas trustees don't get this money, we probably won't get any gas next winter.'

Mr. Morris—"I should like to know the reasons for the appointment of this special committee. The ways and means committee is the proper place for this matter to be investigated. They have looked into it and approve the issue of these bonds. I see nothing for a special committee to investigate, and besides this resolution does not define any of the duties or powers of this committee."

Mr. Gill—"The ways and means committee thought that this money is needed. A citizens' committee has already investigated the needs of the gas trustees, and there is no need for another committee." Mr. Gill then moved that the resolution for a special committee be laid on the table and that the ordinance be placed on its passage.

Mr. Doner stated that he had asked for this committee so that the council might find out how the $100,000 is to be expended.

Mr. Rutherford also favored the appointment of a special investigating committee.

A vote was then taken on Mr. Gill's motion to table the resolution for a special committee. The motion carried by the following ballot: Ayes—Felker, Gill, Hake, Lee, Manchester, Miller, Morris, Neuendorf, Schmuhl, Swain, Taylor, Walker, Coleman, 13; noes—Daly, Doner, Rutherford, Schmitt, Tanner, 5.

The ordinance for the bonds was then passed.

Ordinances were also passed to issue $30,000 worth of bonds for additional fire engine houses and to issue $110,000 of general fund refunding bonds.

Sewers and Streets.

From the sewer committee ordinances were passed to construct sewer in St. Louis street; Page street and alley between Page and Moore streets, and in alley between St. Clair street and Oliver street.

Resolutions were adopted to construct sewer in alley between East Broadway and South Platt street; sewer in East Broadway; sewer in the alley southeast of Fourth street and alley between Bridge and Cherry streets; sewer in alley between West Broadway and Orchard street; sewer in Sixteenth street; directing street commissioner to repair catch-basin corner Eleventh street and Vance street, and directing city engineer to issue permit to drain lot 49, Shaw & Frazier addition.

On motion of Mr. Gill the resolution to confirm the assessment for the extension of the sewer in Bridge street was referred back to the committee.

Several claims approved by the judiciary committee were passed upon.

Mr. Lee wanted some information regarding the opening and extension of Forrer street from Ewing to Hawley street, and after Messrs. Morris and Gill had explained the matter the ordinance for the improvement was passed.

The resolution to pave Spellbusch avenue was referred back to the committee, on motion of Mr. Lee; the resolution to improve the alley between State street and Woodruff avenue was referred, on motion of Mr. Schmitt, and the resolution to improve Woodville street was referred, on motion of Mr. Gill.

Other business from the street committee was passed as follows:

Ordinances—To improve Williams street, St. Clair to Broadway, paving, to improve Williams street, Oliver to Broadway, grading; to improve Collingwood avenue; and changing the name of Carroll street to Oliver place.

Resolutions—To improve Front street, Washington street Scottwood avenue, Euclid avenue, Mott avenue, alley between St. Clair and Oliver streets, granting property owners permission to turnpike Center street, granting to property owners permission to grade Knower street and to open and extend Yates street.

The resolution to advertise for bids for dredging the river was referred back to the committee on motion of Mr. Rutherford in order that some change might be made.

The resolution to replank South street bridge was adopted.

A resolution from Mr. Neuendorf was adopted directing the city clerk to advertise for bids for legal advertising, including alternate printing.

Has a Poor Idea of the Ability of Toledo Men

To Write Up the Minutes of the Local Passenger Committee, and So He Helps Them Out—C., H. & D. Stockholders Meeting—Railroad News.

The minutes of the Toledo Passenger Committee are printed in Chicago at the expense of the Central Traffic association This is kind of the Central Traffic association and thoroughly appreciated by the Toledo passenger men, but the kindness is offset by the fact that the minutes as sent from here are tampered with in Chicago and come back unrecognizable.

The man who receives the minutes at the Windy city is a very capable person, he looks over the copy and says to himself:

"It can't be possible that those jays down in Toledo know how to put their minutes together. I'll just fix them up for them," and he does so. He leaves out that which don't tickle his fastidious nature, changes the resolutions that don't strike his fancy, leaves out anything he don't want in and puts in anything he don't want out. Then he has them printed and sent to Toledo—poor, mutilated things, mere wrecks of their former selves. This would not, perhaps, be so harrowing to the Toledo members if the Genus of the West would not put in such breaks as "the following members was present." "The following resolutions was passed." etc. These ungrammatical sentences cast reflections on the early education of the Toledoans interested. Secretary John Gunckel and Chairman J. M. Hall, of the Toledo committee, are mad, and so are all the members of the committee. The matter will be investigated, and if the Chicagoans don't stop their tampering, the Toledo committee will print its own minutes.

C., H. & D. Stockholders.

The meeting of stockholders of the C., H. & D. was held at Cincinnati yesterday for the purpose of considering a proposition to increase the capital stock of the company $4,000,000 and the issuing of $3,000,000 of par value of 5 per cent. general mortgage bonds to mature in fifty years. Messrs M. D. Woodford, president; Eugene Zimmerman, vice-president; E. C. Dawes, Ed. Heinsheimer, Mr. Shoemaker, W. M. Ramsey, L. B. Harrison, George Hafer, Mr. Ranson and Mr. Fairbanks, general counsel, were present. The latter explained the object of the meeting and the necessity for providing for certain improvements.

President Woodford stated that the condition of the road had not improved in proportion as the business of the road had increased, indeed very little had been done comparatively in this direction of late years. New equipment was badly needed.

The condition of many of the passenger stations was not indicative of prosperity, some of the depots being old-time structures that should be replaced with new ones. There was never any doubt about the stock being voted, though. Mr. Ranson offered an amendment providing for the privilege of taking up the bonds after thirty years.

The amendement was lost. Just 32,697 of the 40,000 shares were voted for the resolution to issue the $4,000,000 capital stock and the $3,000,000 bonds. Only the voting of 20,001 shares was necessary to carry the resolution.

It is Mr. Woodford's intention to increase the passenger equipment especially. New engines and coaches will be ordered immediately.

C., H. V. & T. Earnings.

The estimated earnings of the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo for April were $280,353.40 against 253,008.42 the same month in 1891, an increase of $27,344.98, or 10.8 per cent.. The estimated earnings from January to April inclusive were $986,243.20 against $863,307.57, the same period in 1891, an increase of $122,936.63, 14.2 per cent. When the large earnings of last year are considered the showing for 1892 must be extremely gratifying to the management.

T., C. & C. Decrease.

The earnings of the Toledo, Columbus & Cincinnati railroad for the first week of May, 1892, were as follows, compared with the same week of 1891:

1891	$7,630
1892	5,693
Decrease	$1,937

T. & O. C. Increase.

The earnings of the Toledo & Ohio Central railroad for the first week in May, 1891 and 1892, were as follows:

1892	$26,717
1891	21,874
Increase	$4,343

Quite Unusual.

The earnings of the Toledo St. Louis & Kansas City railroad for the first week in May, 1891, show a decrease compared with the same week of last year. The earnings for the week in question, of 1892, were $34,266 and for the week last year, $40,051, a decrease of $5,785. This is something unusual for the Clover Leaf, as the earnings of that road generally show a large increase.

MUM IS THE WORD.

Apparently With Relation to the Trouble Between Beer Men.

The only person who would give the slightest information in regard to the beer men's trouble this morning, thought that the difficulty would probably be settled. He said, however, that he had heard nothing new. The men are quite as reticent as the bosses and refuse to tell anything, so the imbiber of brewed hops is still kept in suspense as to whether the trouble will be serious or not.

HE PLAYED SO DARN FAST

That the Granger Didn't Know Just What He Had Heard.

A granger who was in town recently to see the sights dropped into the People's theater and there heard a cornetist play a selection. It hit the granger as being an instrument particularly adapted to himself and he stepped into a city music store to price a cornet. He told the clerk what he had heard, and remarked that he'd like to play as well as that. The clerk wished to appear interested in the prospective customer so he asked him what he heard, a solo or a duet.

"Well, you see," answered the farmer, "I couldn't just tell he played it so darn fast."

MAN'S ORIGIN

Considered Again Last Evening by Prof. Wright.

A scholarly and entertaining lecture was that given by Prof. Wright at the High school hall last night. He continued the subject of man's origin and cited authors who have argued to show how nearly together are the highest animal and the lowest human development. He is not prepared to furnish any "missing links," but is a thorough believer in evolution, under divine guidance and with divine interference. The next and closing lecture of the very successful course will be given Tuesday evening of next week. It will consist of a review of the series, fine stereopticon views, and a big question box is invited.

GARNER READS MONKEY TALK

In the Bee and Writes Stating He Is Off for Africa and the Home of the Gorilla.

E. L. Garner, of New York, a well-known figure on Wall street, has been occupying considerable space of late in the leading magazines with articles on monkey talk, of which he has been making considerable study. Recently the Bee published an article on the monkey language, which was read with interest by Mr. Garner, and he wrote a letter to the Bee regarding it. He says that next week he will sail for Europe and make a long trip in the wilds of western Africa for the purpose of searching for and studying the gorilla, which animal comes about as near the human race as any Darwinian could desire. Mr. Garner is an enthusiastic scientist, and if anyone can discover the secret of a monkey language he is the man.

NO SMALL POX

Bound for Toledo—A Report Circulated Without Grounds.

The report that five small pox cases were bound for Toledo was as ridiculous as it was uncalled for. It seems there was a case of varioloid on the steamship Westernland. On the same vessel were five immigrants bound for Toledo. The local health officials desired to intercept these five travelers yesterday and disinfect their clothing if necessary. However, they did not put in appearance on any of the trains visited. If any small pox cases reach this country on ocean steamers they don't get farther than quarantine; at any rate they don't take such passengers and bring them 700 miles inland on a crowded railroad train.

THE MONTHLY SOCIAL

Was Enjoyable, as Are All Things Done by St. John's Chapter.

The regular manthly social and business meeting of St. John's chapter of the Epworth league was held last night at the church on Magnolia street, and proved interesting as well as entertaining. Hood; vocal duet, Misses Carrie Beatty and Sylvia Briggs; reading, Mr. George Bartlett; piano duet, Misses Grace Bramwell and Belle Jones. A social hour was next spent. Next Tuesday evening the league will give a concert, the proceeds to go to the pipe organ fund.

THOUGHT IT WOULD CURE.

Col. —— Takes the Gold Cure at Mt. Clemens, but Gives It Up.

Col. —— went to Mt. Clemens at the solicitation of his friends and commenced taking the gold cure and a course of boiling out baths with the intention of correcting an insatiable desire to drink more whisky than was good for his general health and future prospects of living. The colonel liked his glass pretty well, but just to please his friends he started in on a course of treatment. As is usual with gold cure patients, he was given all the whisky he could drink for the first few days. This hit the colonel in the right spot. The gold cure went up a good many points in his estimation. He was on hand three times a day for the purpose of getting "shot," as the process of injecting the medicine in the arm is called, and taking his rations. However, at the end of about five days the gold got in its work and whisky commenced to taste bad to the colonel. At this point he stopped taking treatment. A friend asked him one morning why he did so.

"Well," replied the colonel, winking his other eye, "I stopped because I thought the darn thing was going to cure me."

tertainment for young and old. For the present, however, it is proposed to secure a temporary location with reading rooms and facilities for summer amusement. Messrs. Chas. J. Kirschner and M. E. Nugent were last week appointed a subcommittee to proceed with the work, and this will be done as rapidly as possible, or, in fact, as fast as the finances will admit. Said Mr. Kirschner to the Bee: "We do not propose to incur any debt. We are going to do business on business principles and in a business like manner, and we will push the work as fast as the members come to the front and pay for it."

The National League seems to be as unfortunate as the Western, for rain is cutting a big figure in spoiling games. Pittsburg defeated New York yesterday 4 to 3, mainly due to Elmer Smith's work in the box and with the stick. Cleveland defeated Boston yesterday 5 to 3.

—::—::—

New York, May 10.—There was a fairly good crowd of sporting men assembled at the arena of the Coney Athletic club last night to witness the international prize fight between Tommy Kelly, of Harlem, champion 110 pound man of America, and Billy Plimmer, the champion of that weight in England. The prices of the tickets were $5 and $10.

At 9 p. m. the men entered the ring. Both looked to be in the best of condition. The general impression of the public was that there would be police interference, or otherwise the house would have been crowded to its utmost capacity. This contest was really only a trial horse as to whether the club could successfully "pull off" such events.

Plimmer was seconded by Charley Norton and Benny Murphy, while Kelly was looked after by Jack Quinn and Jimmy Carroll, Brooklyn's clever middle weight. Alf Smith acted as referee and Bob Stahl held the official time. Fred Burns acted as master of ceremonies. Four ounce gloves were used.

Plimmer fought hard, and in the tenth round Kelly quit, falling down and being counted out without being hit. He evidently had had enough.

The official score of the game Sunday gives Omaha six earned runs off Dewald. Omaha can certainly stand it if the Toledo club and Pitcher Dewald can.

With the trap facilities each shooter can have all the play he desires, as 10,000 targets can be thrown a day. A GRATEFUL LADY

OFFERS A TRIBUTE OF PRAISE TO DR. KALKHOFF'S SKILL.

A Stubborn Case of Catarrhal Complications Quickly and Thoroughly Cured by the European Specialist's Compressed Medicated Gases and Specific Vegetable Remedies.

There are hundreds of grateful people in Toledo and vicinity who have voluntarily offered to testify to Dr. Kalkoff's skill in curing them of the varied diseases with which they had long been afflicted. These grateful tributes of praise from persons ABSOLUTELY CURED are frequently taken and placed on file at Dr. Kalkoff's spacious offices, surgery and laboratory, 505 and 507 Summit street, between Oak and Orange. These testimonials are never published unless the persons giving them express their willingness and desire to have them printed for the benefit of suffering humanity.

Miss Sadie Elliott, 230 Twenty-First St., Is a grateful and sensible young lady, who is willing the people should know that she has been completely cured by Dr. Kalkoff of a stubborn case of catarrh of the nose, head and throat. Miss Elliott's catarrhal troubles were of long standing, but within the last year she had been getting rapidly worse until at times life became a burden. The catarrhal poison had gradually spread itself over the entire mucous surfaces of the nose, head and throat, and its ravages had already reached the stomach, where it interfered with the process of digestion. The poison had also permeated the blood, where it produced numerous other troubles.

After a short course of treatment with Dr. Kalkhoff, the European Specialist, Miss Elliott says she is now perfectly free from all catarrhal troubles and enjoys perfect health. Her headache and dull, tired and weak feelings have disappeared, and she now has bright eyes, good digestion, sound sleep, clear complexion and a feeling of strength and ambition that make life a pleasure instead of a burden as before. Miss Elliott was cured by Dr. Kalkhoff's original system of compressed medicated gases, together with his imported specific vegetable remedies which completely eradicate the catarrhal poison from the blood. The compressed gases are medicated with redistilled extracts from the vegetable kingdom, and are breathed from the generating apparatus directly into all the cavities of the nose, head, throat and lungs, where the liquid sprays used by cheap catarrh fakirs cannot get. Dr. Kalkhoff's medicated gases promote the growth of a new coating of the mucous membrane surfaces, so that the atmospheric changes cannot again produce catarrh.

Whist! there's a hen on in New York republican politics. Platt bossed the making of the nest. The china egg is marked Harrison; those supposed to be hatchable bear the mysterious monogram, "R. L."

Said for certain that the immaculate Clarkson has wired the expectant Harrison that he is "for him." if he has to go it alone. This relieves the tension a bit, and the president might now go snipe shooting.

Brazil is threatened with another governmental eruption. The choice in South America seems to be between jabbing your neighbors or having a row at home. The dove of peace exhibited at the recent Pan congress very soon dropped its olive branch when it got into the tropical air of the southern republics.

Ex-Governor Campbell has written a political letter which has been printed in the Scripps' newspapers. He speaks of the people as slaves toiling for their masters, the republican plotters of bad government. He says the tariff question is the only issue of the year and that Grover Cleveland is the logical candidate of the democratic party.

March winds and April floods which failed to arrive on schedule time, are arrived at last, and making up past delinquencies. Farms in Indiana, Missouri, Illinois and Iowa are under water, and the wheat fields of Nebraska are smothered by heavy snow. Versatile climate this. The more prophets and clerks it has and the more scientists tinker with it, the worse it acts.

President Harrison deserves a great deal of the scoring he gets from both his own party and the other party, not only for the things he has done but for some things he has left undone, as well. There has been a vacancy on the supreme court bench since the twenty-second day of January last, when Justice Bradley died. Justice Lamar has been ill a good portion of the time, and consequently absent. Some very important constitutional questions have been decided by this crippled bench, and by a majority of barely one. A full bench might have changed the whole phase of the O'Neill case and verdict, in which the constitutional rights of states were involved. What is President Harrison's reason for this neglect of his plain duty to the people whose servant he is? The people have a right to know.

By all means let's have a public school celebration of the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. Thirteen millions school children can make a whooping big time if they set about it. October 12 is the date. Let there be uniformity and spontaniety and dead loads of patriotism. To the older heads, the country has become simply a political checker board; let the rising generation of citizens become imbued with a little of genuine patriotism and love of country that has in it no element of selfishness.

A republican organ says:

"One thing is certain; the party is not going to indorse free silver, thus throwing away the great states of the east for the sake of a half dozen or so western electoral votes, not enough in the aggregate to decide the result."

And this is reason enough for the republicans, for or against any vital measure. What is good for the country and tends to prosperity of the whole people cuts no figure. It is simply a political problem in addition and subtraction, with no conscience in the matter at all. Noble patriotism!

The silver tinkers in congress seem not have read aright the popular verdict on their attempt to make seventy cents a dollar by legislative enactment, and another fight is about to be precipitated. It were useless to try to convert Mr. Bland to sound doctrine, but as a democrat he ought to have sense enough to know when it is time to quit. The tariff issue is big enough to absorb the coming campaign, and upon this issue the democratic party is united. Let the silver job of the silver miners and silver boomers severely alone.

About the first of July the President will have a bankrupt treasury to deal with, and the profligacy of the most reckless administration in the history of the country will be an issue of the campaign which the republican leaders cannot explain away. How changed the situation since 1888. Then it was a question of what to do with an enormous surplus. The republicans said they would take care of it, and they did—they squandered it in a jiffy. Republican spoilsmen are equal to such a task any time. That's why the whole kit should be voted out of office this year.

NOW IT IS THE JAPS.

The Pacific states have a Chinese exclusion law something to their liking and now they open fire on the Japanese. The San Francisco Call says:

Japanese are coming here by the hundreds. Every steamer from Yokohama brings a full cargo of the pleasant little people from the Mikado's realm. They are polite, courteous, smiling, and nobody ever has occasion to kick or cuff them, or even to upbraid them. They rarely get into the police courts, and there are few if any in San Quentin. But they are taking work away from our boys and girls and away from our men and women. What shall be done about them? Is it not time that some check were put upon their immigration?

It is the constantly increasing numbers that creates the alarm. They go first after their arrival to the mission school and get a smattering of our language, then to the Japanese employment office and from thence out into service. So neat, deft, pleasant, and cheap are they, they are picked up about as fast as they are ready, and are taking the places of other domestics all along the coast. It is estimated that there are fifteen thousand of these people on the Pacific coast and a third of them are in San Francisco. They are not centered in one locality, as are the Chinese, but are scattered over the city. Unlike the Chinese, the Japanese are anxious to become Americanized. They copy their grog-shops and pool tables after the American pattern, so far as their small means will allow. They puff bad cigars and affect all the manners of the cheap sport. They print a paper at the "Liberty" office, devoted to the cause of popular liberty in Japan (and the home country has promptly shut it out of its borders) and urging their people to come to free America, where there is work for everybody.

This, summed up is the bill of particulars and complaints. It is a vexing question to force at this time when congress has just violated the national conscience with a rigid Chinese exclusion act. If the Japanese come here under contract which it is averred they do, there is a law to meet that feature of the case. If patriotic Californians will give work to their own people in preference to the foreigners, or refuse to lower the scale of wages in either case making the chances at least, equal, that will be a discourager. If the churches should close their mission school and cease from missionary work in their behalf, that will count. Appeal should not be made to the government until the Coasters try means at hand to help themselves. The expression in the Call's quotation "Nobody has occasion to kick or cuff them," betrays unconsciously, the accepted manner of treatment of the Chinese. Among civilized people it is hardly necessary for one person to kick and cuff another. As for the boys and girls who are "displaced in factories," California is rich enough to put her poor children in school.

We have boasted of leading Japan along the way of governmental reform. The "pleasant little people" have welcomed our ideas, our missionaries and have courted our trade. Shall we now give them cold and unchristian rebuff? Warn them to keep away from us and let us alone? Shall San Francisco be protected from foreign immigration any more than New York or Boston? Granted there was reason for the outcry against the Chinese, is there like and equal reason for Japanese exclusion? Either this matter must be wisely and dispassionately considered or we must revise our entire code and go back on our lauded tradition of the freedom and brotherhood of humanity.

A FATHER OF DEMOCRACY SPEAKS.

The venerable Judge E. D. Potter, of this city, is eighty-eight years old, though apparently as vigorous as most persons at seventy. Born the year Thomas Jefferson was elected president of the United States, the second time, he was old enough to know much of the war of 1812, and of age before Andrew Jackson was elected in 1828. His personal political memory takes in every administration except those of Washington, Adams and Jefferson, though neither Adams nor Jefferson died until Mr. Potter was twenty-two years old. What a world of history such a man constitutes in himself. How much of American history can be conjured from the storehouse of his personal knowledge. It is remarkable, and interesting, and to such as Judge Potter the rising generation should pay respectful deference. They are entitled to the pension of reverence due a past generation.

In this impression of the Bee, Judge Potter reviews the history of political parties in this country, contrasts the Opposition with the Democratic, and gives logical reasons why the old party which has never changed name or creed should succeed this year. From his reasoning the Judge concludes, as hundreds of thousands will agree, that Grover Cleveland is the candidate of candidates for the democratic party to nominate and for the people to elect.

The funniest things in New York newspaperdom do not always appear in the comic papers, so labeled. The Monday World has a cartoon of "the Astor family leaving the steamer." First is J. Roosevelt Roosevelt, with the heavily veiled widow on his arm. J. R.-R. is walking without crooking his knees. Next are the most important figures of the group, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Drayton. Coleman is getting on right enough, but Mrs. Astor-Drayton is, ostensibly, suffering from a bad case of the yip-yaps, as if she had eaten too many strawberries for dinner. Of course the artist saw the necessity of putting pathos into the face, but he struck it wrong; it is the pathos that calls for a prescription. There would be no expression in sight (except the body bend) with the veil down so the lady is represented as having that article wrapped about her head like a shawl from the steerage. Verily greatness, even begotten of great wealth, has its penalties.

The crusade of Dr. Parkhurst against the darkest vices that hide in New York city is commanding wide attention. Ridicule failed to down the man; he went in with his sleeves up and to win. The best papers of the metropolis, satisfied that his purpose is wholly in the interest of law and order, have been won to espouse his cause and commend his work. He has uncovered vicious spots that the authorities must take cognizance of or stand self-confessed, in league with the law breakers The persons who believe that ministers should preach and not practice are growing daily fewer in number. One encouraging feature of the crusade is the unanimity with which churches of all denominations support Dr. Parkhurst in his efforts.

Spain and Turkey are experimenting with electric lights for army use. The scientific awakening of the present age is confined to no country or countries. The lamentable feature of it is that so much effort lies in the direction of implements and ways for killing one another. However, some important discoveries have been accidents entirely out of line with purposed designs. Every accomplishment of science leads into unexpected by-ways.

Of course, it hardly looks reasonable that the "friend" would secure shares of Yellowstone park leases in the name of Russell Harrison, all unbeknownst to Russell, simply to surprise him by such act of gratitude for services rendered through his (Russell's) connection with the President, but it may be true.

New York bestirs herself on occasion. Whatever the "play folk" will, goes. The actors' fund fair in that city last week netted nearly $200,000. Foot-light favorites selling boutonnieres and chewing gum reach after the pocketbook in a most mysterious and fetching manner.

Platt, Quay, Duffield, of Detroit (Alger man), and Chauncey, all in Washington Saturday, simultaneously and collectively, dodging around from hotel to private residence and looking full of secret mission, is what the capital has to speculate about for a few days.

Strikes, riots and closed factories. We are having a deal of this kind of work in this country where every man is taxed, according to theory and declaration, solely to protect labor.

"New England needs rain" says the wire from Boston. Well, New England can have tons of it from the west if there's any way of making the deal.

TIFFIN NOTES.

Tiffin, O., May 10.—(Special)—The democratic county convention will be held in this city on Thursday, June 9.

Mrs. George Miller, aged 70 years, died at her home in this city yesterday afternoon.

In a competitive shoot between company D of this city and Bloomdale Rifles, on Saturday, the Bloomdale boys came out ahead.

POORMAN'S CHANCES ARE GOOD.

Martin's Ferry, O., May 10.—Complete returns show that at the congressional primaries in Belmont county on Saturday, Col. C. L. Poorman secured 44 delegates, Senator J. W. Nichols 16, and Gen. Hollingsworth 3. This gives Poorman 60 in Belmont county according to the agreement, within 27 of the number necessary to nominate. Poorman's chances are good.

DWELLING BURNED.

Van Wert, O., May 10.—The fine large dwelling house of Isaac Hoaglin, three miles and a half south of this city, was totally destroyed by fire, together with its entire contents. The loss is estimated at $5,000. Insured in the Ohio Farmers' company for $2,400.

SINCE JEFFERSON'S DAY

Twenty Administrations are Familiar to Judge Potter.

The Venerable Democrat Contrasts the Parties

And Gives Some Sound Reasons for Supporting the Party That Never Changed Its Name or Creed.

Hon. Emery D. Potter, of this city, is 88 years old. He voted for Andrew Jackson in 1828 and has always kept the faith. His impression of parties is thus given to the present generation that may well take lessons at the feet of this Father of Democracy:

To the Editor of the Bee: I desire to say a few words, through the medium of your paper upon the present situation of political affairs of this country.

There are two dominant political parties in the field, beside several side shows, demanding the suffrages of our people in the approaching contest for the election of president of the United States. Their position is well defined. One is for protection and higher taxation, beyond the needs of the government; whilst the other is for tariff reform, limiting taxation to the needs of the government economically administered. The delusive question of the unlimited coinage of silver is so equally divided between the two leading parties as scarcely to enter into the issue.

The so-called republican party, inheriting, through many imitations, the sentiments and aims of the old federal party, has stolen the honored name of Jeffersonian republicanism, to cover up their designs in rehabilitating the doctrines stamped out by the advent of Thomas Jefferson to power, with a continuance of Jeffersonian republican administrations for forty years, with the exception of four years of John Q. Adams' administration, from 1824 to 1828. In 1840 Hon. Wm. Henry Harrison was elected, a "whig;" in 1844, Jas. K. Polk, democrat; in 1848, Gen. Zachary Taylor, whig; 1852, Franklin Pierce, democrat; 1856, James Buchanan, democrat; 1860, Abraham Lincoln, republican; 1868, Gen. U. S. Grant, republican, eight years; 1876, R. B. Hayes, republican, four years; 1880, Jas. A. Garfield, republican, four years; 1884, Grover Cleveland, democrat, four years; 1888, Benjamin Harrison.

After the retirement of Washington, in 1796, party lines were more drawn between the two parties, John Adams leading the federals and Thomas Jefferson the democratic republican, names assumed by the belligerents. Adams led the day in 1796 and held office four years.

After the retirement of Gen. Washington from the presidency, the struggle for supremacy between the two parties became defined and culminated in the election of Mr. Jefferson in 1800, over Mr. John Adams, by a vote so emphatic that very little was heard of the federal party for the next forty years, under democratic rule, except its opposition to the war with England in 1812, when the leaders of the party called a convention at Hartford, Connecticut, to deliberate upon the means for ending the war, and whose secession from the union was freely discussed.

During these forty years of democratic rule, in every great crisis of our history, whenever there seemed a plausible opening for opposition the federalists came to the front. The war with Mexico seemed to be a grand opening for the reorganization of the broken ranks of the opposition, whose speeches in congress and out of it encouraged the Mexicans to "welcome the American soldiers with bloody hands to hospitable graves."

The old leaven of federalism appeared in the Fifty-first congress, now called the billion dollar congress; cropped out in the McKinley tariff bill, and in the usurpation of Tom Reed, the speaker, in assuming powers unknown to legislative usages, and in violation of the organic law of the land, by which the wealthy and powerful were provided for, and the poor left to take care of themselves.

This system of legislation has led to the formation of trusts and combines, by which the price of labor and the price of its products are under the control of these rich monopolists.

The Extravagance of the Republican Party

Is shown in its lavish expenditure of money. The Fifty-first congress inherited from Grover Cleveland's administration an overflowing treasury. In two years the treasury under republican rule had become bankrupt, and after grabbing all the money in sight, not excepting the reserve fund set apart for the redemption of the public debt, they are to-day unable to scrape together money enough to pay current expenses.

I have, at considerable length, set forth the history and practices of the republican party from its old federal origin down to the present day, in order to contrast it with the methods of the democratic party, which has without change of name or creed stood upon the Jeffersonian platform.

The Democratic Record of Economy

Is shown throughout the first forty years of its continuous management of public affairs. This was, probably, the most momentous period in our history. We had many Indian wars on hand, a war with Algiers, a three years' war with England, entailing upon us a heavy public debt; and many treaties to negotiate with foreign powers to establish us a power amongst the nations of the earth. These negotiations we wisely conducted, giving us an equal footing with the most favored nations. The country was prosperous, population increased, the wealth of the country was equally distributed amongst the people. In the eight years of General Jackson's democratic administration our entire public debt was paid, leaving a surplus in the treasury, which was divided among the states per capita.

Such a record is unprecedented in the history of the nations.

The administration of Polk, 1844, Pierce, 1852; Buchanan, 1856, and Cleveland in 1884, are without spot or blemish. Who can say, after studying this record, that the democratic party has not been faithful to its trusts, and is not the party to re-form the measures and policy of the government by adjusting taxation to its needs

The Democratic Platform

Is reform, reforming the tariff, reducing taxation, adjusting measures to secure to labor its rewards equally with the capitalists; to restore economy in the administration of the government; to make it a government for the people and not for the monopolist alone.

I think the general sentiment of our people leans towards Grover Cleveland as our standard bearer in this contest. His opinions are well known; his wisdom and courage are unimpeachable. The most of the opposition to his renomination arises from the fear that he cannot secure certain states needed to elect him; that if nominated he may lose the support of Gov. Hill and Tammany of New York. I have been a close observer of Gov. Hill's course for the last seven years, and I consider him one of the most adroit political leaders that has held the governor's chair in New York for many years, and, as he says, he is a democrat. He will not sacrifice his fealty to his party to his ambition. I have no doubt but what he will heartily support the nominee of the Chicago convention. I have known Tammany for many years, and I am persuaded that its members will maintain their usual ardor in keeping in line with the national democracy.

To desert Cleveland now, would look too much like changing front in the face of the enemy. E. D. POTTER.

Toledo, May 9, 1892.

DEATH OF AN ESTEEMED LADY.

Norwalk, O., May 10.—(Special)—Miss Martha Newton, daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Alfred Newton, for 30 years pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, died last night. For six years she was a constant painful sufferer from muscular rheumatism, and entirely helpless.

She was a former principal of the Norwalk High school, and was probably the most intellectual young lady in this city. Her death is mourned by the entire community.

IRON ORE ON THE FREE LIST.

That is What is Wanted by Some of the Eastern Congressmen.

Washington, May 10.—Mr. Williams, of Massachusetts, has presented to a majority of the democratic members of the ways and means committee the views of the New England men who are urging that iron ore be put on the free list.

Some of the members wished information as to what, in the opinion of Mr. Williams, the manufacturers would be willing to concede in the way of lower duties on manufactured articles in return for free duty on iron ore.

Mr. Williams suggested that iron ore and scrap iron be put on the free list, that pig iron be made dutiable at 24 per cent., and that the other iron duties be lowered all along the line to 40 per cent.

Mr. Cockran, of New York, presented a request of a committee representing the artists of the United States, who will shortly hold a convention in Washington, asking a hearing before the committee on the subject of free art.

The request will be granted and the full committee on ways and means will hear a committee representing the artists a week from to-morrow.

HIS POLITICAL HOPES BLASTED.

Youngstown, O., May 10.—Judge Johnston was seen yesterday, and upon being informed that Judge King credited him with causing his defeat for the congressional nomination at Salem, said: "The judge certainly gives me more credit than I deserve. At no time during the progress of the convention could Judge King have been nominated. Frankly, I did not expect to see Mr. Morgan nominated. I had abundant reason to believe I could be nominated. During the recess of the convention at supper time I had promises from 60 of the Stark county delegates to support me, and I felt confident of winning. Why they did not fulfill their promises I cannot say, but I stayed in the race expecting to win."

FOUND IN OUR EXCHANGES.

Governor McKinley could not have been elected except for the help of the 30,000 negro votes in Ohio, and what has he done for his benefactors? President Harrison could not have been elected except for the help of these self same Ohio negroes, and what has he done for them? Senator Sherfan would not be in the senate except for the help of these 30,000 negro votes, and what has he done for them? McKinley scorns them. Harrison turned the negro servants out of the White House, and John Sherman refused to allow the colored folks to dance at his ball.—Dayton Times.

The Ohio State Journal must have a curious notion of promoting harmony. Its policy of quoting from the press those points of detraction of which it appears to be making a specialty, no doubt will promote that kind of harmony spelled with a double l.—Urbana Citizen.

The republicans hasten to tell us that there was nothing but harmony at Cleveland; but we are quite sure that there is another word which begins with "h" that better explains the real condition of affairs. Gallipolis Bulletin.

When the Ohio delegation goe sto the national republican convention each delegate should be compelled to deposit his side arms in the baggage car, in charge of the militia, to assure peace.—Upper Sandusky Union.

The great atheist, Bob Ingersoll, in his perambulating lecture tour favors McKinley for president. We presume the affinity arises from McKinley's effusiveness of profession and lameness in practice.—The Massilonian.

The Hancock county convention last week endorsed Governor Hill as a presidential quality. Is there any wonder that county has gone tothe demniton bowwows politically?—Fostoria Tmes.

With a little encouragement, the presidential boom of ex-Senator Sherman might develop into one of the biggest things to be observed at the Minneapolis convention.—Dayton Herald.

Harrison ought to shed no tears if he is not nominated. He will be president until March 4, 1893, and no longer, whether he is renominated or not.—Gallipolis Bulletin.

Messrs. Quay, Platt, Alger and Mahone are playing a role a good deal like that of the Texas steer heading off a 100-ton locomotive.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

James E. Campbell, ex-governor of Ohio, is a full-fledged democratic candidate for the presidency, and hopes that lightning may strike him.—Cleveland World.

The Sherman-Foraker fight threatens to sting and destroy the gerrymander fruit.—Columbus Dispatch.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A careful survey of the field at present leads conservative men to believe that the fight this campaign will be between Harrison and Cleveland, just as it was four years ago. —Harrisburg Call.

Theodore Roosevelt promises that when he takes the witness stand in the house investigating committee he will give Postmaster General Wanamaker as lively a showing up as he ever gave Editor Hatton of the Washington Post during their quarrel of a year or two ago.—Chicago Herald.

Not only the Methodists in Omaha, but the Baptists in Atlanta, are after the president for signing the Chinese exclusion bill. This is serious. If the Methodist and Baptist combine in this matter we do not believe the Presbyterian president will be in it.—Portland News.

If John Sherman's boom could only stand June weather in the temperate zone, he might be president. But conventions are not held far enough north for him. The iceberg of his ambition does not float far from the polar regions of his hopes before it melts in the ocean of his disappointment.—St. Louis Republic.

As an example of extremes meeting, to say nothing of the combination of the sublime and the ridiculous, the demand for free and unlimited coinage of silver side by side with an indorsement of Blaine for the presidency by the Idaho republican convention is a unique curiosity.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

All Washington has been wondering what the exact nature of the Raum cinch upon the Harrison administration can be. Every day that things go on in the pension bureau "as they were" means loss to the Hobson's choice candidate of the republican party.—Boston Globe.

Political prophecies are at all times uncertain, and just now, six or eight weeks before the national conventions, the wisest prophet is he who temporarily abandons his occupation. Mr. Cleveland has shown unexpected strength in some of the state conventions. Gov. Boies has sunk from view and Senator Palmer has managed to keep in sight and remains a considerable figure in the public eye. Most of these facts may experience a decided change in the next few weeks.—Providence Journal.

Platt has gone to Washington to trade off New York delegates for a cabinet position or some other valuable consideration.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

The United States may well be proud to participate in the great naval display proposed for next year. In April, when it will take place, the nation will have 32 cruisers, battle-ships, rams and torpedo vessels in commission, and 13 of the old wooden vessels which are still able to fly a pennant and to discharge a broadside. At least 40 ships of modern build and graceful proportions could be spared to escort the visiting vessels from Hampton to New York and to attend them during the parade. There is no cause for feeling doubtful about the propriety of showing off the American squadron to the civilized world.—Baltimore Herald.

There riseth a cloud before me,
And though my good friends assure me
There can be nothing in it,
I pause for a minute
To reflect.
Mayhaps to suspect.

From the dark Plattonian shore,
With Dudleyous threatenings dire,
I see its McKinleyous core
Bursting with Blisstering fire;
Clarksonian thunders arise
In mutterings heavy and deep,
Quayandering over the skies
With dreadfully devious sweep;
The Millerous lightnings illume
The Hattonized edges of cloud,
While Blainentous shadows engloom
The blue of my sky in a shroud.

Am I to be Dudleyed out of my prize?
McKinleyed clean to the bone?
Am I to be Quayed before my eyes,
Blainoozled out of my own?

COW'S MILK DANGEROUS TO BABIES.

"The large death rate among babies," said a leading physician yesterday, "results to a great extent from the injudicious use of cow's milk. The child's stomach is too weak to bear anything but mother's milk or lactated food. This lactated food is a pure substitute for the natural diet, and in many cases in my practice has, I believe, saved the child's life."

The weather in Florida during the past winter has been remarkably bad, and very discouraging to natives and visitors. Those who went there in search of sunny skies and balmy air found little of either, and one newspaper pleads: "Do not allow this exceptional winter to deter you from coming again; never within the memory of living man has there been a winter like this. There has been some delightful weather, but it has been mighty scarce.

THE SHATTERED HARP.

The secretary and his young wife were yet in the glamour of their honeymoon. No consideration of convenience, no passing inclination had united them. Love, ardent and proved by years of patient waiting, was the seal of their union. They had known each other as little children, and their hopes and plans had grown together; but Sellner's uncertain position forced him to postpone for a long time the fulfillment of his hopes. At last he received his appointment and on the following Sunday he led his bride into their new home. When the long, tiresome days of congratulations and family feasts were ended, how gladly they spent the beautiful evenings together, with no third person to claim any share in their joy. Plans for coming days filled the hours. They were both of them fine musicians, and Sellner's flute and Josephe's harp made sweet music during the enchanted evenings, which sped all too quickly. The deep harmony of their instruments was an auspicious omen for their future.

One evening, after they had played long together, Josephe complained of a violent headache. It had begun in the morning, and the day's work and the evening's pleasure hd wrought seriously upon her delicate nerves. Sellner at once sent for a physician; he came, treated the matter as a trifle, and assured them that she would be quite recovered in the morning. But after an extremely restless night, during which she raved incessantly, the doctor found poor Josephe with the symptoms of a nervous fever. He devoted himself zealously to the case, but Josephe grew worse daily. Sellner was beside himself. On the ninth day the physician lost hope, and Josephe herself felt that she could not live much longer. She awaited the end with gentle resignation.

"Dear Edward," she said to her husband, "with deep sorrow I leave this beautiful earth, where I have found thee and highest blessedness; but though I may not linger long in thine arms, Josephe's love shall be round about thee until we meet again, above."

She sank back and fell asleep. It was in the evening, at the ninth hour.

Sellner's sorrow was unspeakable. He struggled long with life. His grief destroyed his health, and when, after many weeks, he arose from his bedside, he was without a vestige of his former youthful vigor. Deep melancholy fastened upon him. He had left Josephe's room as it was before her death, and every evening he made a pilgrimage to this sanctuary of his love. Hither on a clear moonlight night he came and stood, as in the time of his happiness, leaning upon her window. Into the sweet tones of his flute he breathed his yearnings toward her who had gone. Suddenly, from a neighboring tower the watchman cried the ninth hour. As if struck by a light spirit hand, the harp answered to his flute.

Overcome with awe, Sellner ceased playing upon the flute; the strains of the harp also ceased. With deep emotion, he now began Josephe's favorite song, and the strings sent forth strong, loud notes, in accompaniment of his melody. He sank to the floor with a shudder of joy, and stretched out his arms to embrace the beloved shadow. He felt himself breathed upon as by the warmth of spring, and a pale, shimmering light shone round him.

"I knew thee, blessed shadow of my sainted Josephe!" he cried. "Thou didst promise in love to be round about me! Thou dost keep thy word! I feel thy breath; thy kisses upon my lips! Thy glory shines upon me!"

Again he took the flute, and the harp again sounded forth, but more and more gently, until its whisperings were lost in one long, final chord.

Sellner cast himself upon his couch. In all his heated dreams he heard the whisperings of the harp. He awoke late, and wearied from the emotion of the night. He felt the touch of a supernatural hand upon his life, and within him there was a strange voice. It prophesied the speedy victory of the soul over the body.

With unutterable longing he waited for the evening. At twilight, he betook himself to Josephe's room. Playing upon his flute, he lulled himself into still dreams until the ninth hour. Hardly had the last clock stroke ceased, before the harp again sent forth its strains to meet and blend with the flute-tones in perfect accord. Again, the pale shimmering light shone round him. Again he cried out to his loved one, "Josephe, Josephe! Take me with thee!" Again the harp-strains took leave of him in gentle whisperings.

Sellner tottered back to his room. His looks terrified his faithful servant, who hastened, in spite of his master's prohibitions, to the physician, who was also a life-long friend of Sellner. The physician found him in a fever, with the very symptoms which had appeared in Frau Sellner's malady. The fever increased during the night. He raved ever of Josephe and the harp.

In the morning he was quieter; the struggle was over; he felt assured of speedy release. He revealed to the physician the occurrences of both evenings, and no arguments of cold reason could dissuade him from his belief. As evening came on, he grew weaker, and asked at last to be taken into Josephe's room. They did his bidding. He looked about him at each beloved object with tears of joy, and spoke with certainty of the ninth hour as his last upon earth. The fatal moment drew near. He said farewell to all who were gathered around him, and asked to be left alone with the physician.

Nine hollow strokes groaned forth from the castle tower, and Sellner's face shone with a heavenly light.

"Josephe!" he cried with ineffable joy, as if God's hand had touched him, "Josephe, greet me once more ere I go, that I may know thou art near, and may overcome death by thy love!"

Then the harp-strains vibrated in splendid, triumphant strains, like paeans.

"I come, I come!" he cried, and sinking back, struggled with life. The harp tones grew soft and gentle, but lost no sweetness nor clearness. Suddenly Sellner's struggles ended, and the strings snapped asunder. Were they torn by a supernatural hand?

The physician was bowed down in an ecstasy of awe. He closed the eyes of his friend and left the house. After years of silence concerning Sellner's death—a silence which he dreaded to break—he communicated these things to a few trusted friends, and showed the harp, which he had been unwilling to leave to the mercy of rude hands.—Romance, N. Y. News.

BOOK NOTES.

This is emphatically an age of cheap reading. The best fiction of all countries is put into neat readable shape in strong paper covers. There is small reason for any one to sigh in vain for books. Every avenue teems with them. It is not what to read, but what not to read. In fiction, the series published by the Appletons or the Cassells and other houses of repute, is well selected for those who want the best and most popular stories of the day.

From the Appletons we have "Amethyst, the story of a Beauty," by Christabel R. Coleridge. Amethyst was a beautiful girl who "went up to London to make a great marriage." The story of her experiences is one of interest to the end. From the same house, "The Story of Phiiip Methuen," by Mrs. J. H. Needell, a romance that opens with a word picture of "Florence, the fair," and takes the reader to London and to Paris in the drift of the hero's fortune, ending happily at last. The book has many fine descriptive passages.

The Columbus Memorial Publishing company has sent out a wonderful amount of information in a handsome atlas bearing on its cover the legend: "1492—Columbus Memorial. Progress, Achievement—1892." Every other page has chronological record of the events of the 400 years, and opposite this is a map to correspond. A history of the exposition from its inception down to date, presenting beautiful engravings of the principal buildings of the World's Fair grounds, and the state of preparations to date. It is a handsome and valuable souvenir.

"The New Don Quixote," by Harry B. Smith, published by the Complete Art Printing works, Buffalo, N. Y., is a rollicking art pamphlet, the character of which is indicated by its title.

"Dixon on Ingersoll"—ten discourses—is edited by Nym Crinkle and published in pamphlet form by Ogilvie & Co., N. Y., introduced by picture and sketch of Rev. Thomas Dixon.

Jennie Wren, the bright editor of "The Doll's Dressmaker," has written a neat little 25-cent "Waverly," entitled "Lazy Thoughts of a Lazy Girl." Of course they are the crisp, lively thoughts of an industrious girl, very entertainingly set forth.

"How to Get Married," published by J. S. Ogilvie, New York, has some sensible hints and some thoroughly good advice, despite its rather pronounced title.

Welcome always to Table Talk. It shows no diminution in interest and attractiveness. A cheer and aid to the housewife from first page to last, all for $1 a year. Table Talk Publishing company, 1113 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

The American Queen is the name of a new, illustrated monthly published at Bridgeport, Conn., for $1 a year. It is well edited and presents good original and selected matter. Volume IV., No. 1, is upon the Bee table; 20 cents a number.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

At the request of Archbishop Ireland the Rev. Father Caillett, administrator of St. Paul, Minn., has been nominated domestic prelate at the Vatican.

Bjornsterne Bjornson has generously renounced his pension because the Norwegian government will not extend a like honor to a brother poet, Kjelland.

It is currently reported that Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton was recently offered $100,000 by a wealthy Mexican for the cure of his daughter, who was suffering from some mental trouble.

The German emperor is said to have posed before a camera 140 times since he ascended the throne.

It is doubtful whether Mr. James Anthony Froude will accept the professorship of history at Oxford university that was recently offered to him.

The oldest American naval officers of rank are: Commodore Henry Bruce, born in 1798, entered the service in 1813; Rear Admiral Selfridge, born in 1804, entered the service in 1818; Commodore Samuel Lockwood, born in 1803, entered the service in 1820; Rear Admiral Samuel F. Lee, born in 1812, entered the service in 1825.

The new minister to France, Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, of Boston, is a millionaire cotton manufacturer and prominent in big corporations. He is a great-grandson of Thomas Jefferson, his mother having been the daughter of the third president's favorite child, Martha Randolph. Mr. Coolidge is a leader of fashionable society, speaks French, has a distinguished appearance, and is famous for his diplomatic and persuasive manners. Until 1884 he was a democrat, but his personal attachment to Mr. Blaine and high tariff ideas sent him into the republican party in the Cleveland-Blaine presidential contest. Mr. Coolidge's son, Mr. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., is one of the most ardent democrats in Massachusetts, and a member of the democratic state committee.

DANIEL AND THE LIONS

Interesting Sermon Preached by Dr. Talmage.

Nothing More Fatal to Personal Advancement Than the Spirit of Indecilons.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 10.—Dr. Talmage took for his subject Sunday the character of Daniel and drew from it lessons of sound, practical value for the young men, of whom so large a number are always to be seen among the most eager and attentive listeners in the Tabernacle congregations. His text was Daniel vi. 2, "Daniel was first."

Where in romance can you find anything equal to what Daniel was in reality? A young man far away from home, introduced into the most magnificent and most dissolute palace of all the earth. The king, wishing to make this young man a prodigy in personal appearance, orders his attendants to see that he has plenty of meat and wine, and Daniel refuses these delicacies and insists on a vegetable diet, refusing everything but pulse and water, waving back all the rich viands with a determined, "No; I thank you." He surpasses all the princes in brilliancy. As this sun rises higher and higher in the firmament, it puts out all the stars, and if there is any thing the stars hate it is the sun. Daniel becomes so much of a favorite with King Darius that our young hero is promoted to be prime minister or secretary of state—the Frelinghuysen or the Bismarck of the ancients. But no man ever attained such high position without exciting the envy of others. The meanest and wrathiest passion of the soul is jealousy. You see it among all professions and occupations. I am sorry to say you see it as much among clergymen as among other classes of men. It is a passion bitter as hell, and it is immediately recognized, and yet, though it blackens the man who indulges in it, men will kindle this fire which consumes only themselves. There were demagogues in Babylon, who, highly appreciative of their own capacity, doubted the policy of elevating such a young man as Daniel. They said: "Why, we know more than he does. We could manage the public affairs better than he can manage them. The idea of putting Dan in such a place as this." Old Babylon was afraid of young Babylon. They began to plot his ruin. He was an illustrious target. The taller the cedar the more apt to be struck with the lightning. These demagogues asked Darius to make an unalterable decree that any man who within thirty days shall ask a petition of any one except the king shall be put to death. Darius, not mistrusting any foul play, makes such a decree. The demagogues have accomplished their purpose, for they knew that Daniel would not stop sending up petitions to his God, and Daniel, instead of being affrighted by the decree, went three times a day to his house-top for prayer. He was caught in the act. He is condemned to be devoured by the lions. Such a healthy young man will be for the leonine monarchs the best banquet they ever had. By the rough executioners of the law he is hurried away to the den. I hear the growl of the monsters, and their pawing of the dust, and as their mouth is placed to the ground, the solid earth quakes with their bellow. The door is removed and Daniel shoved into the den, which was all agleam with fiery eyeballs that seem to roll an snap in the caverns. They approach the defenseless man. Their appetite was sharp with hunger. One stroke of their paw, one crunch of their teeth and he would have been lifeless. How strange a welcome Daniel receives from the monsters. They fawn about him. They cover his feet with their long manes. They are struck with the lockjaw. That night Daniel's sleep is calm and undisturbed, with his head pillowed on the warm neck of the tamed lions. But King Darius was not so happy. He loved Daniel and he hated the stratagem by which his favorite had been condemned. He paces his floor all night. He cannot sleep. At the least sound he starts and his flesh creeps with horror. A bad conscience will make the bravest man a coward. He watches eagerly for the dawn, which seems so long in tarrying At the first streak of light, he starts out to find the fate of Daniel. The palace gate opens and jars heavily behind him while yet the city is asleep. He comes to the den. He looks through the crevices but sees nothing. He dare not speak. Expecting the worst, his heart stops. Gathering strength he puts his mouth to the rifts in the rock and cries: "Oh, Daniel, is thy God whom thou servest continually able to deliver thee from the lions?" An answer comes rolling up out of the deep darkness. "Oh, king, live forever. My God hath sent his angel and hath shut the lions' mouths, and they have not hurt me." The young man is brought out and the demagogues who made the plot are thrown in. But they hardly struck the bottom of the den when their flesh rent, and their bones cracked, and the blood spurted through the rifts, while the fierce monsters shook the rocks with their terrible roar, announcing to all ages the truth that while God defends his people, the way of the wicked shall perish.

Now, you see from this subject in the eyes of many the greatest offense you can commit is success. Of what crime had this young man been guilty, that he should come under the bitter hatred of the demagogues? Why he had got to be prime minister of Babylon. That they could not forgive. Behold in this sketch a touch of human nature. As long as poverty pinches you and you run the gauntlet between tax gatherer and landlord, and you have hard work to educate your children, there will be multitudes of men to say: "Poor fellow. He ought to succeed. How sorry I am for him." But, after a while, you begin to emerge from the darkness. That was a capital investment. You purchased at just the right time. Fortune became good-natured and smiled You builded your own house. You got to be one of the first men on the street. Now, as you pass, a number of those late sympathizers stand on the corner of the street. They scowl at you from under the rim of their hats. You have more money than they have and you ought to be scowled at from under the rim of their hats.

Before you get fully past you hear a word or two: "Stuck up," says one. "Didn't get it honestly," says another. "Will burst soon," says a third. Every stone in your new house was laid on their heart. Your horses' hoofs went over their nerves. Your carriage tire cut their neck. What have you done, outrageous culprit? You ought to be cast to the lions. You have dared to achieve success. Depend upon it that if in any one respect you rise far above your fellows—if you are more truthful, more wise, more eloquent, more influential—the shadow of your success will chill somebody. The road of honor and virtue is within the reach of the enemies' guns. Jealousy says: "Stay down, or I will knock you down." In midair a snowflake said to a snow bird: "I don't like you." "Why don't you like me?" said the snow bird. "Because," said the snowflake, "you are going up and I am coming down." Success is often a synonym for scorn. The first thing a man wants is religion. The second is grit. If you do not want to face wild beasts you must never get to be prime minister. If you are now, as a young man, rising in any one respect, I bless God for your advancement, but I wish to say before I quit this thought, look out for the lions. Young merchants, young lawyers, young physicians, young ministers have much sympathy and kind advice is given them at first, but as you become your own masters and begin to succeed in your different occupations and professions, how is it then, young merchants, young lawyers, young physicians, young ministers? How is it then?

Again, behold in our subject an exhibition of true decision of character. Before Daniel were condemnation and death, if he continued faithful to his religion. Yet, just as before, three times a day he prayed with his face toward Jerusalem. There is nothing more fatal for the religious or worldly advancement than a spiritual indecision. How often youth is almost gone before the individual has determined upon his profession. There are those who for 30 or 40 years have accomplished nothing anywhere because they have not felt themselves settled. They have though of law, of medicine, of merchandise, of mechanism. They have some idea of going west. Perhaps they will go east. Perhaps they won't. They may go north or south. Perhaps they will invest their money in railroads or real estate. Perhaps they won't. They are like a vessel starting from New York harbor, which should one day decide on going to Liverpool, and the next on New Orleans, and the next on Marseilles. How many men have for a long while been out on the great sea of life and they do not know to what port they are destined? It is an everlasting tacking of ship, but no headway. The man who begins to build a house in the Corinthian style and when half way up concludes to make it Doric, and then completes it in Ionic, will have an unseemly pile and be cursed of every school of architecture. These men that try everything get to be nothing. God wrote in your brain and engraved on your bones what you ought to be. Then be that—nothing more or nothing less. In that direction is your success. Every other road is ruin. Having adjusted your compass, go ahead. Set your teeth together. Small difficulties do not notice. Great difficulties, by God's grace strike them down. Onward! Let cowards skulk. Act you like sons of God. If you want to sail to the land of gold you must double the cape. To usefulness and strong character there is no overland route. Over the great deeps you must fly. Most of the way is either head wind or tempest. Character, like the goldfinch of Tonquin, is magnificent while standing firm, but loses all its splendor in flight. There is no such thing as failure to those who trust in God. Paul got to be an apostle by falling off his horse. Stephen was stoned into heaven. When a young man resolves on a religious life, he does not always find it smooth sailing. Old companions laugh and say with sarcastic tone: "He has got to be pious." They go on excursions but do not ask him. They prophesy that his religion will not hold out. They call him "long-faced." They wonder if he is not getting wings. They say sharp things about him for themselves to laugh at. When he passes they grimace and wink and chuckle, and say loud enough to be heard: "There goes a saint." If you have never seen life as it is, you know not what strength of resolution it often requires for a young man to be a Christian.

Again, let this story of Daniel teach us that the way to future success is through present self-denial. Not only did Daniel show his willingness for self-restraint by refusing the luxuries of the king's table, but must have denied himself much social enjoyment and sight-seeing, in order to have attained most wonderful proficiency in study. The rush of the chariots under his window, and the sound of mirth that rung out on the air of Babylon would have attracted most young men into the streets and to expensive places of amusement. But Daniel knew that it was only through severity of application that he could attain the honorable position for which he was intended. Indeed, you may carry this truth into universal application. The most of those who have succeeded in any profession or occupation have come from the very bottom of the ladder. The brightest day began with the twilight. The admirals who commanded the navies of the world started as cabin boys. The merchant princes whose messengers are ships and whose servants the nation's custom houses, once swept the store and kindled the fires. The orator who lifts up the gate of the soul, as Sampson carried off the gates of Gaza, once stammered and blushed on the stage of a country school-house. The young painter, under whose pencil skies blossom and waters gleam, understands his subject so well because he has but little to shelter him from the one and is obliged to find his only beverage in the other. Out of the dark, deep mines of want and suffering has been dug the marble for the world's greatest temples of wisdom and palaces of power. Vanderlyn, the artist, must first content himself with the charcoal sketch. Franklin, before becoming the renowned philosopher, must be a journeyman printer. Columbus must weave carpets before he can weave hemispheres. David must take care of his father's sheep before he rules Israel. Amos must be a herdsman before he becomes a prophet. Daniel must be the humble student before he rises to be the prime minister of Babylon. If a young man start in life with large notions of what he must immediately have, willing to consider no economy, but expecting with a small ship to unfurl as much sail as an ocean frigate, he will find himself capsized by the first northeaster. It is the small sprig that you can carry in one hand which will thrive best when planted. But if, by levers and huge lumber wagons, you bring down from the mountain a century oak, though you may plant it, you cannot make it live. So he who begins life on such a grand scale and with such exorbitant notions, will never succeed, while some young man who went to town without means, but by having a right spirit, through his self-denial, planted a tree which has reached above Wall street and flung its shadow in one direction over the granite palaces on the avenue and in the other far out over merchant vessels anchored in the bay. Men say success in life is all a matter of good luck, but industry and economy and self-denial put together always make good luck. There are young men who failed twice and are getting notes shaved the third time before they are as old as their father when he first began business for himself. They started with the idea that their wit would do as well as capital. For a while it did, but when creditors sent their duns and banks their protests, they found that mere shrewdness was greatly below par. You cannot cross the ocean in a yawl.

A young eaglet, far up in the mountain eyrie, says to its winged mother: "I will fly no longer from tree to tree as you tell me, but like you, mother, I will swing from this Chimborazo peak to yonder Chimborazo peak." Like an arrow it shot into the heavens, but when over the awful chasms its head was dizzy and its wing weak, and it began to whirl downward, and with wild scream, until it struck on the rocks. A traveler passing through the gorge saw the mangled remains of the eaglet. "How came you to have this fall?" asked the traveler. "Ah, me," says the eaglet, "it was because I would not fly from tree to tree until I was old enough, but headstrong I started from Chimborazo peak toward Chimborazo peak." If young men would seize the advantages of intelligence, it will be by great economy of time and the refusing of many forms of gratification. Show me a man, who, refusing many of the frivolities of gossiping youths, can see more to attract his attention in the pages of a treatise or a history, than in the flash of bright eyes, or the airy step of those who find more skill in their heels than in their heads, and I will show you a man who will yet master languages and sway a very scepter over his fellows. Many an education which is now considered complete is made up of a smattering of newspapers and the last page of a fashion magazine. The parlor and the drawing room cannot educate us. They may give us outward adornments of manner, but getting valuable knowledge is like sweltering at a forge, bellows in one hand and hammer in the other—like digging in mines with crow-bars, prying under the ledge and the constant bang of blasted rocks. Especially is it true that no growth in grace is possible unless, like Daniel, we are willing to take up the cross, however heavy it may be and rough with nails. Moses chose affliction with the people of God rather than the pleasures of sin, and if we would be anything like him we must be willing sometimes to choose the hard bread of self-denial rather than the imperial clusters from royal vineyards. To get strength and depth enough in rivers for turning mill wheels and manufactories, dams are built across them, and then through the mill-race the quick floods leap on the water-wheel to turn it with tremendous power. So natures that would otherwise have been powerless and insufficient by self-restraints have been dammed back and deepened until, with concentrated power, they rush into the world, turning its ponderous machinery of important interests. Unrestrained men may have much good in them, but it is so scattered that you see no positive effect. Electricity in the air does not strike, but gathered in the red cloud with its bare red arm it cleaves the mountain. Passions harnessed and yoked make excellent beasts of burden. However attractive may be the sinful offers of the world, though rich and luxurious as the provisions of the king's table, we must be willing to refuse them, if nothing be left us but plain pulse. Oh, how we want the faith and courage of a Daniel and a Paul, but how we dread the hot atmosphere of trial in which their graces ripened. The richest fruits of religion grow in the sultry tropics of trial. If you want pearls you must dive for them. If you want gold you must dig for it. The richest part of California and Australia are under ground. Depend upon it if no pruning, no fruit; no climbing, no elevation; no battle, no victory; no cross, no crown. Had there been no Nebuchadnezzar there would have been no Daniel. Even so it has been in all ages. The flames that have flashed up from the stake have been so many illuminations of Christian triumph. When God would make a great light of truth and holiness in the world, he often takes great persecutions and with them strikes fire. The devil's hate is God's glory. Had it not been for the persecutions of Emperor Valerian, the world would not have known of the courage of a Cyprian, and if the tyranny of Diocletian had never been known the triumphs grace could not have been seen which made Maximilian, when sentenced to death, exclaim: "God be praised!" Had not the bandits of Piedmont pursued the Waldenses through the valleys of the Alps, and the infuriate decree put to massacre the Albigenses of France, the world would have had fewer illustration of Christian heroism. Be Joseph before Pharaoh. Be Paul before Felix. Be Daniel before Darius.

Again let the story of Daniel teach us the beauty of that youthful character which remains unblemished and upright when away from home. Had Daniel, on arriving in Babylon, plunged into every excess, his friends in Jerusalem would never have heard of it. His dissipation and renunciation of religion would not have cast one sorrow on the family hearth where he had lived or the old family Bible which he used to read. But, though far away from home, he knew that God's eye watched him and that was enough. It is not every young man who maintains the same character when absent that was maintained at home. Frederick watching his father's sheep among the hills or threshing rye in the barn is far different from Frederick on the stock exchange. How often does the kind retiring spirit become bold effrontery, and the accommodating, self-sacrificing disposition once exhibited among brothers and sisters, becomes a cold and unresponsive selfishness, and economy, wastefulness, and open-handed charity, tight-fisted stinginess, and the keeping of good hours is changed into midnight revelry. I probably address young men now, distant from their father's house, and others who, still under the parental roof, look forward to a time when they will depart alone to conflict with the world and among strangers be called to build up characters for themselves. Happy for you, oh, young man, if you shall, like Joseph, be the same when living with wicked Pharaoh as with pious Jacob, or Daniel, as pure in Babylon as in Jerusalem. There is no passage in a man's life of more thrilling interest than the day in which he leaves home and goes off to seek his fortune. The novelty and romance connected with the departure may keep the young man from any poignant sorrow, but parents who have seen the destruction among strangers of those who were considered promising youths, cannot help feeling that this step is full of momentous importance. Before the youth left home all his conduct was under affectionate guardianship. Outbursts of folly, carelessness and impropriety of manner, and looseness of speech, were kindly reproved, and although the restraint seemed sometimes too severe, yet hours of sober reflection have convinced him that it was salutary and righteous. But behold, how the scene changes. The father, through the intereeding of metropolitan friends, has secured the son a place in some bank or store or office. Schoolmates on the night before his departure come to take their farewell of the young adventurer. That morning he takes a last walk around the old place, and going past some loved spot, a sly tear may start, but no one sees it. The trunk is on the carriage, and after a warm goodbye, away they speed over the hills. Set down amid excitements and among companions not over scrupulous as to their words or deeds, temptations troop around the stranger. The morning comes, but no family altar, and the Sabbath, but no real quiet, and perhaps at the sanctuary the faces are all strange and no one cares whether he goes to church or whether he does not go. Long winter evenings arrive, and how shall they be spent? On his way home from his place of busines he saw flaming placards announcing rare performances and that this was positively the last night. At the door of his cheerless boarding house, no one greets him, and the evening meal is insipid, for no one cares whether he eats or does not eat. The room in the third story that evening seems doleful and repelling. A book snatched up from the stand proves to be dull, for no sister is there to look over with him. In despair he rushes out, reckless as to where he goes if he can see something that will make him stop thinking. That night may be the turning point in his history. Once within the fatal circle of sin and the soul has no power to repel it. On that dark sea he is launched, where the gleam of joy is only the flash of the pit and the roar of laughter is only the creaking of the gates of the lost.

In many a country churchyard is now the grave of some youthful spirit that went away lithe and bounding, but came home diseased and crushed and blasted to disgrace the sepulchre of his fathers. Yet this exodus must be made. As from the distant hills, rivers find their way through tunnels to great cities, so from distant points of the country it is necessary that a stream of uncorrupted population shall pour into our great thoroughfares to keep them pure and manage the traffic of the world. Multitudes of such are constantly making their departure from home. Tomorrow morning on all of the thoroughfares leading toward the great cities of our land, on steamboat and railcar there will be young adventurers for the first time speeding away from their homes in order to try their fortunes in town. The Lord stretch forth his arm for the deliverance of these Daniels away down in Babylon. Wherever your lot may be cast—in far inland town or in some great seaport—maintain in your absence the same principles of morals and religion which may have been instilled by a parental solicitude. And while you may feel in your heart and life the advantages of early religious culture, forget not those to whom you are chiefly indebted, and pray that as age comes upon them and the night of death begins to fall on their pathway, the hope of heaven may beam through the darkness, lustrous and steady as the evening star. The Lord forbid that by our conduct we should ever bring disgrace on a father's name or prove recreant to the love of a mother. The poet did not exaggerate when he exclaimed:

How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is,
To have a thankless child.

DOCTORS FRANCE AND OTTMAN,

Formerly of New York, now the Celebrated Examining Physicians of THE FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo

Dr. France, Wednesday, May 11.
Dr. Ottman, Saturday, May 21.

Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Burnett House from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.

The doctors describe the different diseases better than the sick can themselves. It is a wonderful gift for any one to possess. Their diagnostic powers have created wonders throughout the country.

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,

38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases, and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, or poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies now to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

THE MARKETS ARE QUIET

And at a Lower Range of Prices.

Northwest Wheat Receipt are Decreasing.

No Change in Foreign Markets—The World of Traffic Reviewed in a Few Columns.

Receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth show a great decrease, say 97,039 bu and at five other western points 138,162 bu. On the corresponding Tuesday in 1891 the receipts were 80,541 bu.

Export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were, wheat 454,382 bu and flour to an aggregate of 550,000 bu. Exports of corn 61,088 bu and of oats 20,545 bu.

English markets as reported herein are strong in London and weak and lower in Liverpool for wheat, and firm for corn.

The quantity of wheat and flour on ocean passage was increased last week 160,000 bus, but this increase would have been made greater but for the excessive importations into the United Kingdom in the same week.

These importations were 5,017,000 bus in wheat and flour expressed in wheat, and it is 1,500,000 bus above the average.

The increase in the corn afloat of 576,000 bus, is an indication of steady demand for that cereal. The increase is about the same to the United Kingdom as to th econtinent.

The telegraph reports rain all over the country again, including the northwest. Illustrating the perversity and general cussedness of the wheat market. Prices opened lower, and declined, when on other days, on corresponding conditions, prices advanced.

Wheat receipts in the northwest are much decreased, and winter wheat receipts are increasing.

The wheat markets on this side of the Atlantic have been very quiet to-day at a lower range of prices. At the seaboard and western markets the decline from yesterday's closing price has averaged 5-8 to 3-4c, and dealers seem inclined to the bull side, but purchases are doubtless restrained by the government crop report.

The weather for planting and marketing corn is about as unfavorable as it has been or can be, but prices are not maintained to-day, and July especially is lower.

Foreign markets present no notable change.

In New York May wheat closed 7-8c and July 3-4c lower. May corn 1-8c higher, July 5-8c lower. May oats 3-8c lower.

In Chicago May wheat closed 1 1-4c and July 1c lower. May corn 3-8c and July 1 1-8c lower. May oats 1 1-8c lower.

In Toledo the business in wheat futures has been moderately active to-day, and for cash and May the prices correspond fairly with yesterday's close. Later futures have been easier. We can hear of no new element in the deal, and generally it is a waiting market. At the close May showed a decline of 1-8c, June 7-8c, July 5-8c, August 3-4c. On the call cash and May sold at 90 1-4c, June at 89 3-8c, July at 86 1-4c, August at 85 1-4c. After the call May sold at 90 1-4c to 90 5-8c and closed at 90 3-8c, July at 86 1-4c and closed at 85 7-8c, August 85 1-4c and closed at 84 3-4c. Cash wheat was in good request. No. 2 soft sold at 90 1-8c to 90 1-2c and at close 90 3-8c was the market. No. 3 soft at 87 3-4c. Corn—No. 3 at 44c, No. 4 at 42 1-2c. Oats—No. 2 white at 33c. Rye—No. 2 at 80c.

Growing Crops.

New York, May 10.—The Times presents this morning special dispatches from its correspondents in 22 states in the union, giving a careful and conservative summary of the acreage, condition, prospects and probable yield of cotton, corn and wheat. The states from which the information comes are the leading ones engaged in the growing of the articles named.

The significant fact about the cotton crop is the decrease in acreage. That there is such decrease is reasonably certain, though opinions differ as to how great it is. Estimates run from 10 to 15 per cent. less in Louisiana to 30 to 35 per cent. less in Virginia. Drouth has seriously affected the crop in some states, in others it is reported to be in excellent condition. The total yield will be less than last year.

Corn has suffered from the late spring in the great corn growing states, but more particularly from continuous and heavy rains. In some states the plowing is not half done, while in others it has not even been begun. Still if good weather should come at once there would be an average acreage and yield.

Of the great wheat growing states South Dakota is the only one that promises a large crop. In Minnesota the weeks of cold rain have made the prospects far from flattering.

Similar conditions have prevailed in Wisconsin in a less degree and the outlook for a large crop is not good. Washington has enjoyed good weather, and though North Dakota has had a wet spring, it is confident of a good crop. From Illinois, Kansas and Ohio the reports are not discouraging, though these states have suffered from the spring rains.

PRESIDENT HUBBARD

Leaves the Chair to Talk to Member Sam Kohn.

Another Seance at the Board of Education.

Adjournment in the Midst of a Scrapping March—Regular Business Transacted Before the Muss.

The board of education held quite a lengthy session last evening.

A communication was read from H. D. Kahlo and E. G. Nichol, presenting an American flag to the Lagrange street school, which was accepted with thanks.

A communication was read from Louis Payne and Richard Waite requesting that a school be established near Birmingham, stating that the children in that vicinity are compelled to go either to Ironville or East Toledo, which is too great a distance for small children to travel in bad weather.

A delegation from Air Line Junction were present, in the interest of more school room at that point. They complained that over half of the children at the junction are compelled to go over to the Hoag school and others; that after they got through the third reader they were through at the school at the junction, and had to go elsewhere to complete their education. They wanted a graded school. Both matters were referred to the building committee to report at the next meeting.

Superintendent Compton reported the Raymer school greatly overcrowded. He stated that there were over 70 scholars to a grade, that a number of them were seated on the platform while others were sent home. There was a vacant room at the school and he occupied that in the emergency employing a teacher, and the school was in that condition at the present time.

Mr. Broer moved that the report be referred to the teachers' committee.

Mr. Kohn stated that it should not be referred to any committee; it was a report from the superintendent and should be acted upon directly by the board. The report was accepted.

Superintendent Compton stated that for three years the Toledo High school had been an th diploma list of the Michigan University, by which graduates from the Toledo schools were admitted into the Michigan University on their diplomas without further examination. The three years had expired, and a committee had been apointed by the faculty of that institution to investigate the Toledo schools with a view of extending the plan another term of years. The committee had reported, and Mr. Compton read the following letters from James L. Angel, president of the university:

"I take great pleasure in saying that the Faculty, after listening to the report of their committee, have voted to place your school on the diploma list for the courses leading to B. A. and B. L. from 1892 to 1894, inclusive.

"We cannot refrain from from adding that we should be glad to have this statement communicated to the school board. With your present teaching force, it seems to us practicable to add one more year to the preparatory course. This is so desirable, it seems to us, for a city like Toledo, which must have so many boys and girls to send to college somewhere, that we should hope that the school board would see their way clear to make this change.

"Yours truly,

The matter was referred to the committee on course of study.

The directors of the Toledo university submitted a communication suggesting the names of A. E. Macomber, five years, and Henry J. Colburn, three years, to succeed themselves as members of the board of trustees.

The question of sodding the East Toledo, Hoag and Stickney schoool grounds next came up, and quite an animated discussion followed. After a vote had been taken to sod the grounds, the superintendent suggested that the teachers be authorized to keep the children off the grass.

Mr. Kohn stated that he was not aware that he had voted to deprive the children of their play grounds to beautify the surroundings. He was opposed to sodding all the ground about the schools.

A motion was then approved, instructing the superintendent to draft plans and specifications to grade and sod the three grounds, partially and all over.

The finance committe reported the insurance revised as follows:

Sherman, $13,000; Warren, $10,000; Erie, $8,000; Washington, $8,000; East Toledo, $8,000; South street, $8,000; St. Clair, $7,000; Stickney, $7,000; Jefferson, $7,000; Nebraska, $7,000; Broadway, $7,000; Hoag, $6,000; Hoag, frame, $1,000; Illinois, $6,000; S. Toledo, $5,000; Lagrange, $5,000; Nebraska annex, $3,500; Parkland, $2,000; Ironville, $1,550; Ontario, $7,000; Raymer, $7,000; North Toledo, $1,000; Spring street, $1,200; Manhattan, $1,700; Walbridge, $400; Howland, $700; Brown's addition, $500; Segur, $8,000; Junction, $500; Tremainsville, $800.

The secretary was instructed to advertise for bids for furniture and slate for blackboards for the new school buildings.

Mr. Eversman said that in his opinion the salaries of the janitors should be increased; that the pay was entirely too small for the work to be done, and the money to be paid out to the men to accomplish it. No action was taken, and the board proceeded to open bids from various piano dealers for the furnishing of a piano for the High school. The bids were referred to Prof. Ogden, Prof. Mathias and Superintendent Compton to report at the next meeting.

Mr. Eversman insisted that some action be taken with regard to the salary of janitors. He moved that they be increased 25 per cent. Referred to the building and finance committee.

The business over, Mr. Broer moved to adjourn, but Mr. Kohn was too quick for him and had the floor before the motion could be put. He stated that at the last meeting he had criticised certain members of the board for their manner of proceeding in the organization of the board. The members had rushed into print since that time, and President Hubbard had gone so far as to demand an apology. He wanted to know what he had to apologize for.

Mr. Hubbard suggested that Mr. Kohn put his remarks in writing.

Mr. Kohn—"Mr. Hubbard, this is a peculiar proceeding. At the last meeting you suggested that I substantiate my statements, but you didn't say anything about writing them. I knew nothing of this until I read your interview in today's Bee. I think I see the drift of it all. I think if you take the Bee of the Tuesday after the last meeting, you will find my remark on that occasion in black and white. If truths require apologies, then I owe this board an apology for what I said."

Mr. Hubbard—"What do you refer to?"

Mr. Kohn—"I refer to the secrecy with which this board was organized."

Mr. Hubbard—"I insist that your statements be put in writing."

Mr. Eversman—"I move we adjourn."

"Mr. Kohn—"This request is unfair and unjust. You demand that I substantiate the charges I made. I am here to do that, and now is the time and place, and if you were not afraid to hear the truth you would listen. I am willing to talk slow, so as to give the reporters present opportunity to take every word I utter down in writing for you to digest tomorrow.

Mr. Hubbard—"I will not be satisfied with this."

Mr. Kohn—"You are afraid to have the truth spoken and you know it."

Mr. Hubbard called Mr. Zirwas to the chair, and taking the floor, said:

"Mr. President—At our last meeting the member from the second ward took occasion to assert quite pointedly as follows, viz.: 'Mr. President: I say to your face what I have to say, and not on the street, nor to your back. We expected gentlemanly treatment from the republican members. You lied to us. You tricked us. You stabbed us.'

"Because of his personal charge he was allowed to have full say. He was then asked if he could sustain his assertion. He assured us he could and would do so at this meeting. Inasmuch as he at the outset disclaimed any desire to be a disturber in this board, I am more anxious to give him every opportunity to vindicate his assertion. In case he is in error, he should make honorable amends. I move that the member from the Second make his reply in writing, and in case he is not prepared to do so to-night that he be requested to do so at the next meeting."

Mr. Kohn—"What shall I put in writing? That you are a lot of tricksters?"

The motion was put. Messrs. Kohn, Scott and Trost voting no.

EZRA KENDALL HIMSELF

Is Good in A Pair of Kids, But

His Support Might be a Great Deal Better—Dr. Flint Mystifies People at Wheeler's—Coming Attractions

Ezra Kendall opened a week's engagement at the People's last evening in his latest comedy A Pair of Kids. Jiles Buttons, the old jay with hayseed in his hair, is the character assumed by Mr. Kendall. It is the same as Dr. Mulo Medicus, the part played by him with such success in Mestayer's We, Us & Co. Kendall is funny, original, and as he made We, Us & Co., so he makes the present piece. Take him out of the cast and A Pair of Kids would fall very flat. It is too bad that he hasn't a better support. Geo. Kavanaugh as Cuccoo, the policeman, and Revere Rising, was tiresome; Thomas Bawn stood around and did nothing as Jo Hustler; May Macready rattled her lines off in a high falsetto that none could understand; Lew Hardman chewed the Irish dialect until it was unrecognizable, in the character of Biddy Bedad; Jessie Bertman spoiled her part by hiding herself behind too much grease paint and so on. However Kendall was good and saved the show. He kept the audience laughing continually and received repeated encores on his songs. John Magee as Doc Do Funny was very good and Lily La Verde as Daisy did some clever dancing. Notwithstanding the defects mentioned the performance was highly amusing and will make plenty of fun all week at the People's.

Dr. Flint at Wheeler's.

Those who attended Wheeler's last evening were mystified and amused by the mesmeric and hypnotic powers of Dr. Flint. Many mesmerists have appeared in Toledo, but none have equaled Dr. Flint. He is a wonderful man and moulds the minds of his subjects, picked at random from the audience, in a manner that astonishes his beholders.

He made his innocent subjects do everything imaginable. When brought back to their normal condition they looked sheepishly at the audience and turned their backs. They danced jigs and sang tuneful ditties, milked imaginary cows, drank water and pronounced it good beer, played on brooms and tin pans under the impression they were banjos and trombones, and otherwise gave the onlookers cause for merriment.

One of the doctor's favorite tests is to stiffen a subject into a cataleptic state, place his feet on one chair and his head on another. A huge paving stone, weighing several hundred pounds, is placed on his chest, and while in that position is broken into fragments by blows from a huge sledge hammer. The man with whose chest this familiarity has been taken is brought back to consciousness and does not even seem disturbed enough to pull down his vest. To those who do not believe that one man's mind can control the actions of a dozen persons without their knowledge, a visit to Wheeler's any evening this week will be a revelation.

Coming Attractions.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendall will appear at Wheeler's Monday evening next in a Scrap of Paper. This engagement will probably close the season at that theater. Next week E. W. Varney's great scenic production, the Vendetta, will be produced at the People's with W. A. Whitecar in the cast. The week commencing Monday, May 23, The Fast Mail will be the attraction at the People's.

The weather in Florida during the past winter has been remarkably bad, and very discouraging to natives and visitors. Those who went there in search of sunny skies and balmy air found little of either, and one newspaper pleads: "Do not allow this exceptional winter to deter you from coming again; never within the memory of man has there been a winter like this. There has been some delightful weather, but it has been mighty scarce."

The Guinea Fowl.

Considerable has been said in these columns about the value of the guinea fowl but not a word too much. Southern fanciers thus continue the subject: Guinea fowls are as easy to rear as any fowl. They are hardy, and do not require particular care. For the first few days the young are fed the same as chicks. If the guinea hen is confined to the poultry yard like other fowls, she will never sit, but she will lay a great many eggs, which can be hatched under hens or in an incubator. The guinea hen is a continuous layer in her season, which commences with the grass and weeds of spring. Given free range she will hide her nest, but it can easily be found, as the mule bird usually stays near the nest and makes a great noise when any one approaches. The eggs of the guinea are preferred to those of any other fowl, and the flesh, though dark, is considered by many persons superior in flavor to any other domestic fowl. A few hours in salt water improves it. Young guineas are hardy, and at four weeks old they are usually able to shift for themselves. In a wild state the guinea fowls mate in pairs, but in a domesticated state one cock will serve as many as three hens. Guinea fowls should be kept on every poultry farm, as they scare away hawks and give notice of intruders. Guineas can be raised with profit, as they pretty much get their own living; besides they are small-eaters and contribute their share towards filling the egg basket. If handled when young, and petted, they lose their wild nature and become as tame as other fowls.

SPECIAL TREATMENT

At the France Medical Institute, 38 and 40 West Gay Street.

For catarrh in all its various forms, asthma, bronchitis, consumption and all other throat, nose and lung diseases, by inhalation treatment with compressed gases.

The physicians of the above institute are becoming so well and favorably known in Columbus that it is hardly necessary to mention their superior skill. Those who are incurable are frankly told so. Some who think their troubles are of a trifling nature are found by their peculiar methods of analyzing diseased conditions to be not only in a dangerous condition but beyond human power to control. Likewise many who have doctored for years, even until they have given up the cherished hope of a cure in despair and resigned themselves to a miserable existence, are speedily and permanently returned to health. Especially is this true of diseases of the nervous system. To those who have become discouraged we would say, by all means visit the doctors and obtain their opinion if you have not already done so.

Drs. France & Ottman, formerly of New York, now of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo, Wednesday, May 11. Consultation and examination free and strictly confidential in the private parlor of the Burnett House, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., one day only.
